LAUSANNE, Nov. 25.—Richard Washburn Child, American ambassador to Rome, who is sitting in as American observer at the Turkish Allies peace parley, served notice on the conference today that the United States demands the open door policy and commercial equality in all territorial settlements of the present convolve.

The conference arrived openly at its first agreement today. Commission number one, one of three subdivisions of the convolve, agreed upon establishment of a demilitarized zone thirty kilometers on either side of the Turkish frontier from the Black Sea to the Aegean. Bulgaria is provided with an outlet to the latter waters.

Ismet Pasha's delegation demanded guarantees against militarization of the neutral zones, but was told to wait until the entire subject could be discussed, after the question of freedom of the straits had been settled.

With a press representative of each nation present at the sessions, the commissions speeded up their work.

Tafolla was in the Los Angeles city hospital, where he was taken following the accident. According to testimony introduced at the hearing, the defendant was driving a car which struck Areola, and injured him. Tafolla failed to stop, and was not apprehended until a Fullerton motor officer had pursued him to Anaheim.

Tafolla, on the other hand, claimed ignorance of the fact that he had struck Areola, saying that his first knowledge he had of the accident was when the officer overtook him. He expressed regret, and a willingness to make a settlement with the injured man. With this in view, the preliminary hearing was adjourned for two months.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Urgent pleas that the interstate commerce commission refuse to sanction the dissolution of the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific systems were placed in the record of the hearing today from the governor and attorney general of Utah as well as commercial bodies and shipping organization of that state.

H. W. Prickett of Salt Lake City appeared as spokesman for the Utah interstate commission. His assertions were bitterly attacked by H. A. Handrett, attorney for the Union Pacific.

DECISION ENDS SENSATIONAL COURT CASE

(United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Perjury charges against Edgar Woodcock which was acquitted in a sensational trial for alleged murder here today.

Superior Judge Ward declared the action of the appellate court in dismissing the charges of perjury against Mrs. Woodcock convinced him that a case against Woodcock could not be successfully prosecuted. He also pointed out that most of the witnesses either were out of the jurisdiction of the court or dead.

Dismissal of the charges ended the so-called "Woodcock case" which involved the alleged murder of Edward Kelly, newspaper employee, here three years ago. Woodcock disappeared following his acquittal on a charge of murder and could not be found for prosecution when perjury charges were filed against him.

Several days ago he furnished a new sensation when he appeared in court and answered when his case was called. Continuance was then ordered until today when the case was disposed of.

COSTA MESA TO FORM C. OF C. BOOST BODY

With visions of a bank and other commercial enterprises, active residents of Costa Mesa today were making preparations to hold a meeting December 8 to complete organization of a chamber of commerce there.

Preliminary steps to the organization of the boost body were taken last night at a meeting held at the home of D. J. Rochester. A large representation of residents of the community was present.

Dr. Houston was made chairman of the evening and W. W. Middleton secretary. Enthusiasm marked the session and resulted in a decision to create a permanent organization, at the next meeting which will be held at Rochester's residence. D. J. Dodge was appointed a committee on by-laws and constitution and W. S. Spencer and F. E. Russell were detailed to a committee to secure memberships. Dues were placed at $4 a year.

Various projects for promoting the business community were suggested and discussed. These will be further outlined at the next meeting.

It was decided that a property owner is prepared at this time to erect a bank building and construct store buildings if the proper inducement is offered.

Opinion prevailed that there is an excellent opportunity for a bank at Costa Mesa. It was pointed out that the population and production of the district are increasing and that in time there will be a big demand for the facilities and accommodations offered by a financial institution.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 25.—Two students, Lawrence Degree and William Taylor, were burned to death today when the famous Jesuit college at St. Boniface was destroyed by fire. The property loss is estimated at $350,000.

SEWER WORK BEGINS MONDAY

ASKS AID IN RED CROSS CANVASS

Annual Roll Call Is Set to Begin Monday Morning in District

Determined to put forth every effort to complete the canvass within the shortest possible time, Miss Estelle Nison and her district captains and workers will start the annual Red Cross roll call for Santa Ana chapter next Monday morning.

Today, Miss Nison announced that nearly all of the district captains had been selected. She hoped to have a captain for every district in the city before morning, so that the canvass throughout the city could be begun at one time and pushed through to early completion.

"I am looking for volunteers," said Miss Nison. "There are two or three districts that need canvassing, and workers will be needed in every district."

Urgers Workers Rally. "The responsibility of securing canvassers for her district rests upon each captain, but she ought to be given every assistance possible. Anybody who is willing to canvass one, two or three blocks of a street, and thus help out in this worthy cause, should telephone at once to one of the district captains, or to me."

Miss Nison said that it had been her endeavor to divide the city into numerous districts so that the work would not fall unreasonably upon any team captain. Each team captain ought to have a number of assistants so that the captain's district can be covered quickly and in a way that will not prove irksome to any of the workers, she pointed out.

Captains announced by Miss Nison today were Mrs. Charles F. Smith, Mrs. Alfred Nelson, Mrs. Emory White, Mrs. Kensil Brown, Mrs. H. H. Reeves, Mrs. O. S. Catland, Mrs. J. N. Anderson and Mrs. Charles D. Swanner.

Mrs. Swanner, of the American Legion auxiliary, is in charge of the business session.

The Santa Ana American Legion post has opened the Red Cross roll call by a subscription of $25.

"I am expecting to get 100 per cent reports from the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and other clubs," said Miss Nison. "I am sure of 100 per cent enrollment from the Stanford club, of which I am a member."

The drive chairman said that arrangements are being made for a booth at the high school and for a booth on Fourth street, at which membership cards may be procured.

Today, a group of Boy Scouts was distributing Red Cross posters.

Miss Nison had sent letters to the various branches of Santa Ana chapter urging that the roll call campaign be put through by each branch as quickly as possible. The branches include Seal Beach, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Tustin, Laguna Beach, Irvine, San Juan Capistrano and El Toro.

USE 2 STEAM SHOVELS, 50 MEN, PLAN

Bringing to fruition preparatory measures extending over a period of several years and marking another gigantic stride in Santa Ana's remarkable but substantial growth, fifty workmen, starting early next Monday morning, will begin actual construction of this city's joint outfall sewer, according to Joe Chutuk, Los Angeles contractor.

"We will start near the ocean terminal," said Chutuk, discussing the project with a Register representative. "Monday morning, we expect to have fifty men at work. Within ten days, we hope to have twice this number."

"When we begin operations Monday we will use a drag-line and two steam shovels. For the first few days we will be busy marking out and building our road, so that we can reach the pipe line in good order and without delay."

To Rush Operations. "Within a week or ten days, if no unforeseen delays occur, we should be in a position to lay the first links in the pipe line. With one hundred men employed, we aim to complete the work in less than four months, weather conditions permitting."

"These men, many of whom will be expert pipe-layers, will receive from $4 to $10 each a day, and they will work eight hours a day. Under normal conditions, we should be able to finish well within the 180 working days allowed by the terms of our contract."

Chutuk, who will make his headquarters in Santa Ana during the construction of the sewer, was awarded the contract on his bid of $138,845. His contract calls for the installation of 42-inch vitrified pipe, to be built under the segmental block system.

According to Chutuk, little or no delay will be experienced in securing the necessary amount of pipe to complete the work here.

Chutuk said he planned to employ the best pipe-layers to be found in Southern California and declared that the line, when completed, will be one of the best in the state. It was not believed that Anaheim and Fullerton would start laying pipe until about January 1. The city of Orange has virtually completed plans to connect with the sewer from the north near Garden Grove.

TRY TO DISCOURAGE U. S. FILMS IN JAPAN

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 25.—The imperial tax of $15 a thousand feet imposed on imported films having failed to check the importations from America, which on the contrary continue to increase, some of the prefectures, including Osaka, have decided to impose a stricter censorship which it is believed will assist Japanese films, which, until a few years ago, had the field to themselves. Among the subjects to be banned are those considered immoral, which includes love-making scenes, revolutions and particularly a picture of the war in which the former Kaiser is the hero.

All the big American film companies are increasing their business here. In the ports there are numerous cinemas showing American films exclusively while in the country towns the theaters generally put on a mixed program of American and Japanese films.

According to the plaintiff, the Siglers gave their property at Huntington Beach as security for the payment of the note. Only $1,400 had been paid, it was alleged.

The Siglers sold a portion of the property to the other defendants, it was claimed.

Judge's Decision In Co-Operative Row Sets Law Precedent

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Opinion of Federal Judge Bledsoe, dissolving bankruptcy proceedings against the Pacific Co-operative League Stores in San Diego and other coast cities sets a new precedent of law.

Judge Bledsoe held that the certificate holders in the stores and not the league organization were the real owners and that proceedings, if justified, should be directed against them.

The decision followed petition of the Meyer Cloak and Suit company here for appointment of a receiver for the league. It is exactly contrary to a decision recently rendered by United States District Judge Bean of Oregon on a similar case.

ALIBI SEEN AS DEFENSE FOR BURCH

Alleged Slayer of Kennedy to Rest on Testimony He Was in Long Beach.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Relying on the alibi by which it is claimed that Arthur C. Burch was in Long Beach at the time John Blevins Kennedy was shot at Beverly Glen, the defense in the third trial will probably end its case early Monday.

Deputy District Attorney Clark will then complete his final plea and the case will reach the jury Monday night or Tuesday morning.

BILL SPANISH ENTERTAINERS FOR KFAW

Since the Spanish Entertainers presented their "Night in Old Seville," for KFAW two months ago, numerous requests have come in for a return engagement of these famous Santa Ana performers. The announcement of their appearance on KFAW's program next Monday night will therefore be received with delight by the people of Radioland.

This group of performers is directed by Sol Gonzales, manager of the Mayo Company store on East Fourth street. Gonzales announces that he will have some new talent to introduce, and that he had procured some highly satisfactory male voices.

Another feature to be broadcast Monday night will be a discussion of the Orange county harbor project, by L. Shaw, local realty broker and Orange county harbor commission chairman. Broadcasting begins at 8 o'clock and ends at 9.

CHURCH WORK CLASS ENROLLED AT U. S. C.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Church workers of Southern California are enrolling in a special class for experienced people in church work, on "The Modern Approach to Problems of Growth in Religion," which will be given under the direction of the extension division of the University of Southern California beginning November 23.

The class will be held at 410 Tajo building from 4:15 to 6 o'clock so that teachers and those from out side sections may take part in the discussions.

Prof. Hugh Hartshorne, who recently came to Los Angeles to become head of the department of religious education of the university will have charge of the work. Before coming to Los Angeles, Professor Hartshorne taught in the Union Theological Seminary in New York and also had charge of the summer session work in religious education at the teachers' college, Columbia University.

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 25.—Because they are too suggestive of militarism, gaiters, which have hitherto been worn by the boys of middle schools in Osaka, are to be dispensed with, except when physical exercises are being performed or the weather is wet. The high collar is also to be abolished on the ground that it is not healthy.

EXECUTION STIRS UP REBELS

Capture of De Valera Now Aim of Free State Leaders

ANTI-PACT FORCES MASSING FOR CLASH

Brother of Hunger Striking Sisters Fears New Uprising

DUBLIN, Nov. 25.—Swift and terrible reprisals for the execution of Erskine Childers, "brains behind the De Valera revolt" were feared by the Free State today, and extraordinary precautions were taken to meet any such move.

Rebel attacks were made early this morning upon a dozen or more government posts about the city.

Capture of Eamonn de Valera will now be the objective of all Free State forces.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—An Ireland, swept by a fiercer and bloodier revolution than her troubled history yet has known, was foreseen today by Peter MacSwiney, whose two sisters are dying on hunger strikes in Dublin.

"My sister Mary, in Mount Joy prison, is sure to die," MacSwiney said. "The shooting of Erskine Childers has decided her fate, for it proves the English Free Staters will not release her. She has been without food for seventeen days."

Annie MacSwiney, who, like Mary, is a sister of the late lord mayor of Cork, who died after a long self-inflicted starvation in an English prison, has been on a sympathy hunger strike outside the walls of Mount Joy. She collapsed and probably will die in a hospital, Peter MacSwiney declared. The girls started their hunger strikes after Mary's arrest as a rebel against the Free State.

HUGE STANFORD BOWL FILLED FOR GAME

(United Press Leased Wire)
STANFORD, CALIF., Nov. 25.—Beneath bright sunshine and in crisp autumn air, California and Stanford went to grips here today in the annual football classic. With odds overwhelmingly favoring California, the interest was none the less and the spectacle was as great—perhaps greater—than ever.

Early indications were that probably every seat in the Stanford stadium, which accommodates 65,000, would be taken.

An hour before the game started neither Stanford nor California teams had shown in the vicinity of the stadium. Word was that each had planned to arrive just a few minutes before the kick-off.

But in the stadium the scene was rapidly forming. At 1:30 p. m. perhaps 5,000 people dotted the stands and from then on through every entrance, a constant stream was rolling into the stadium.

On one side of the stadium, in mid-field, was the California rooting section, some 1500 or 2000 strong, ready to "do its stunts." Directly opposite sat the slightly smaller, but just as fervid Stanford rooters, red capped and well equipped. Stanford's women rooters sat behind the men. Each university had its band.

One of the great rooting spectacles of recent football annals was promised.

Friend William Richardson, governor-elect, headed some 250 California editors who occupied a section on the California side.

President Barrows of the University of California, President Wilbur of Stanford, and scores of other dignitaries, including a good representation of army and navy officers were on hand.

PERSIMMON IN BIG ACREAGE GAIN, CLAIM

Judging by sales, the persimmon acreage throughout California will be doubled or trebled next year, persimmon growers were told at their first annual institute held at the Fullerton high school, yesterday, according to H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor.

"Although we expected an attendance of perhaps seventy growers, at this first persimmon institute, we were unprepared for the actual attendance, which reached 150 interested men," Wahlberg declared.

C. C. Thomas, government specialist from the plant introduction gardens at Chico, displayed a new variety of persimmon recently brought to the United States, called the "Fuyu." This is a non-astringent persimmon that can be eaten in the green stage without violent after effects, he declared.

Many growers reported that the demand for persimmon trees in Southern California had been so great that their stocks were exhausted.

Orange county, it was said, now has the largest acreage of persimmon trees in California, and is making great strides in putting the persimmon before the public. There are approximately 300 acres in California planted to the persimmon.

Knowles Ryerson, Los Angeles county Agricultural Extension Service expert, reported on the conditions of elder persimmon plantings at Chico, Oroville and Placer county.

Report also was heard from the Elwood Ranch at Santa Barbara which has been shipping the fruit for the last 20 years.

Farm Advisor Wahlberg was appointed a member of the committee to draw up a permanent organization of the persimmon growers.

DRIVER IS JAILED ON COMPLAINT OF WOMAN

Charges of operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor were lodged against Charles Humphrey, who was arrested by Officers Jesse Elliott and Orin Moncrief last night, after an asserted disturbance on West Fourth street.

Humphrey was arrested on the complaint of Mrs. F. Sanchez, who said that he had taken her to Stanton in his automobile, while he was intoxicated.

When the officers arrived Humphrey was outside the Sanchez house. He said that Mrs. Sanchez had chased him out with a butcher knife, and exhibited slashes as evidence.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Several cars of cauliflower have already moved out of the Colma district to eastern points and later shipments will undoubtedly show some increase. Most of this cauliflower is being passed upon by inspectors of the bureau of standardization and the quality is said to be very good, although heads are of medium size. The general price on cauliflower at shipping point is $1.30 per crate.

The orange market is showing further weakness and a decline of fifty cents per box is reported on all grades. Dealers report a price of $5 per box on fancy navel oranges at shipping point and some seem to expect a lower quotation early next week. Grapefruit from Imperial Valley is generally selling at $6.50 per box.

A few crates of chile were received today and sold at $2.50 per crate. Iced lettuce from Los Angeles is selling slowly at $2.50 to $2.75 per crate.

Approximately 15 tons of dressed turkeys were received by express, a considerable increase over receipts of previous days. The turkey market continues steady to firm with a good demand for fancy stock.

WOMAN IS AWARDED SERVICE STATION, DIVORCE BY COURT

Mrs. Walter Van Deest, Los Alamitos, was today in possession of an interlocutory decree of divorce and a service station at Los Alamitos, as a result of suit, tried before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams yesterday.

Van Deest, who is being held in the county jail, on liquor charges, appeared to contest charges of desertion and cruelty.

Van Deest was arrested about a year ago, but jumped bail and disappeared from the county. Believing that officials had forsaken their search for him, it was said, he appeared in Orange county several weeks ago, to collect his bail money.

He was immediately taken into custody. The court ordered that the service station, which Van Deest had maintained prior to his arrest, be assigned to his wife.

great regional systems. He would have reached an intelligent opinion on the ship subsidy, and it in his judgment the situation required it he would not have hesitated to say so. He would have opposed the soldiers' cash bonus and campaigned the American Legion itself to repudiate it. And he would have the United States vigorously taking part in the solution of the present European muddle.

All these things, most of them conservative, Roosevelt would have made progressive policies. And he would have made real progress through them. His successors, mostly, take the other side.

The new movement has good fighting leaders—too good, perhaps, since they may fall out and fight each other—but it has no Roosevelt to do its thinking for it, and to guide it steadily in the true progressive course, between conservatism and radicalism.

An attempt to elope with another man's wife is not an act of vagrancy.

The pair were arrested, officers declare, while they were on their way to elope. When it was shown that the woman's husband was ready to forgive her and take her back into his home, the charges were dropped that there might be no further difficulty.

Ladies' Aid Society
Tells Bazaar Plans

Methodists should be eminently capable of cooking chicken, since it is conceded that Methodist ministers claim it as their favorite dish. Members of the Ladies' Aid society of the First M. E. church, remembering that fact, are planning for a special chicken dinner to be served at midday on the occasion of their annual bazaar, Tuesday, December 5, at the community house at the rear of the church.

Mrs. W. D. Baker, as chairman of the dinner committee, plans to begin serving promptly at 11:30 in order to accommodate business men. The fame of Aid society cooks having gone abroad, a large crowd is anticipated for the occasion. The bazaar itself will open at 9:30 a. m. and booths will be many and varied in nature.

Fancy work of all kinds will be arranged under the direction of Mrs. B. A. Knudson, while aprons ranging from dainty tea—or chat-ing—affairs to the more utilitarian coveralls will be displayed in charge of Mrs. C. E. Bellog.
Cooked food—an ever popular booth—will be in charge of Mrs.
D. L. Leonard while at the "flower show" where all manner of cut-flowers and potted plants both

COURT DECIDES MISS FRENCH FREE TO WED

Miss Ethel French, heiress, over whose competency a three-day court battle was waged, is free to marry C. M. Schofield, her fiancé, Superior Judge R. Y. Williams ruled at noon today.

She will not have control of her estate, variously estimated up to a quarter million, however, that having been placed by the court under the guardianship of the Orange County Trust and Savings bank.

The decisions of Judge Williams, to this effect, culminated hearings on the petitions of Mrs. E. C.
French, the girl's mother, that a guardian be appointed over the person and property. Mrs. French was understood to have desired the appointment.

Several witnesses were examined by Attorney A. E. Koepsel today, in an effort to prove that the defendant was able to care for herself in the ordinary affairs of life.

Tells of Visits

Mrs. J. B. Nichols, sister of Schofield, told of the frequent visits which Miss French made to her home.

"Every time she would come," Mrs. Nichols testified, "her mother or Elmer Burns or her sister, would follow her, and compel her to go back home."

Mrs. Nichols told of a recent occurrence of that sort. She said that Miss French had not been in her home for more than two minutes, when her mother arrived.
Five minutes later Burns reached the house, and a short time later Mrs. Burns and her daughter appeared on the scene, Mrs. Nichols testified.

"Mr. Burns asked where Ethel was," the witness declared. "I told him that she was upstairs. He went right up after her, and made her accompany him from the house."

Testifying in her own behalf, Miss French said that she was very nervous and unhappy at her home, but that whenever she traveled, she was happy and more healthy.

Ex-Bookkeeper Testifies

Leonard Baker, former bookkeeper for Mrs. French, testified:
"She often told me how much she thought of me," Baker said.
"She followed me around, and continually asked me to marry her.
I would change the subject, but she would always return to the original topic of conversation."

Mrs. French testified at length today, regarding what she termed her daughter's "unreasonableness," in response to Attorney Koepsel's questions, she told of the manner in which Miss French procures money to spend. In every instance, it was given by the mother, she testified. No checks were signed by the defendant, without
Mrs. French's permission, she said.

"My daughter was permitted to give freely to charity," the mother told the court. "Last year, she gave $50 to the church, and $25 to the Y. W. C. A."

Mrs. French sat in a chair near the rail, bundled in rugs and blankets, as she testified. Last night, in leaving the courthouse, she mis-judged the distance of a step, and fell heavily, spraining her right ankle.

SCANDAL SUIT MAN WEDS 2 DAYS AFTER DIVORCE IS GIVEN

CROWN POINT, Ind., Nov. 25.
—John P. Tiernan, former professor at Notre Dame university, involved in recent scandal suits there, was married here today to Blanche Brimmer of Hansell, Iowa. She gave her age as 32 and said she had been a widow two years.

Tiernan obtained a divorce from his wife on Thursday and went to Waukegan, Ills., on Friday and attempted to obtain a license there but was refused because of the Illinois law, which requires persons who have obtained a divorce to wait a year before re-marrying.
Before the divorce suit was filed a case was brought in South Bend courts to determine the paternity of Tiernan's third child.
In the divorce proceedings Tiernan was awarded custody of the first two children while the baby was given to the mother.

other than to appoint a foreman.

QUIZ WOMEN AS WEALTHY AUTO MAN SLAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Numerous women were quizzed today by police investigating the murder of "Handsome Joe" Lanus, millionaire auto dealer and bachelor.
Lanus was found shot twice in the back with his own revolver in garage at 7 p. m. last night. A woman's full length glove lay nearby. Lanus was still alive when found but died without regaining consciousness.

Just as Sergeant Lee Conley of the police force arrived at the scene, Lanus' telephone rang. Conley answered.

"Is this Joe?" a woman's voice asked.

"Yes, this is Joe," Conley replied.

"No, it isn't," the caller replied and hung up the receiver.

All efforts to trace the call,
which police believe would aid greatly in solving the murder, have failed.

The chief clues on which authorities are working, were furnished by Miss Alice McArdle, a bookkeeper for Lanus. She said he had many women friends and gave the names of some of them.

Two pistols were lying near the body. Both were identified as property of the slain man.

Edward Lanus told police his brother had recently been a victim of hold-up men and blackmailers who infested "Lovers' Lane"—a favorite road for autoists to spool, just outside of Chicago.

OLIVE BILLIARD HALL LOOTED BY BURGLARS

Deputy Sheriff Roy Ballard and Herman Zabel, county finger print expert, were today investigating the burglary, last night, of a pool room at Olive.

According to a report, the burglars jimmied a window and entered the building, stealing cigars and clothing.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN'S WEEKLY BIBLE TALK

Last week we considered Christ as the Great Missionary. Today we see Him taking command of the missionary work of the world that has not ceased to spread the glad tidings of great joy even to this day.

In the time that elapsed between these two events in our Saviour's life, He had taken the five loaves and the two fishes and fed the five thousand.

He had walked on the waters of Galilee to His storm tossed disciples.

He had foretold to the 12 His betrayal, death and resurrection.

He had been transfigured before Peter and James and John.

He had healed a little boy grievously stricken; He had called a little child to Him and enshrined childhood forever in the kingdom of God and the heart of the world.

A Timely Utterance

It was after these things that He appointed 70 other disciples, taking command of the world's missionary work, "sent them two and two before His face into every city and place whither He himself would come." And a sentence that He spoke unto the 70 as He sent them forth describes the need of the present hour as accurately as it did the need when Christ was upon the earth.

"The harvest is truly great, but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that He would send forth laborers into His harvest."

Luke pictures Jesus giving instruction as to how His followers should act as they carried out His instructions.

He was sending them forth "as lambs among wolves." There was no campaign fund with which to provide for them; they were to depend entirely upon the hospitality of those among whom they went. "The laborer is worthy of his hire" and they were engaged in a great work.

They were taught what to preach—"The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you"; and it came nigh to those who rejected them and the former received their reward for extending a welcome and the latter the opportunity offered.

A Great Need

One thought stands out so prominently in our text that I shall leave others to comment upon other parts of it while I ask attention to the plenteitude of the harvest and the scarcity of the laborers. When saw the saddest more penitential or the need for laborers greater than now?

The world is groaning beneath the burden of civilization. It has everything except the one thing that it needs most.

Behold the evidences of material wealth! When did man have such mastery over the forces of nature? The waterfalls that once plunged uselessly down the mountain side are now estimated in units of horsepower; the lightning that was once regarded only as a messenger of death is now man's most useful servant.

Jesus Sends Forth His Missionaries—Text of Today's Bible Talk by Mr. Bryan

After these things the Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them two and two before His face into every city and place, whither He himself would come.

Therefore, He said unto them, The harvest is truly great, but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that He would send forth laborers into His harvest.

Go your ways: behold, I send you forth as lambs among wolves. Carry neither purse, nor scrip, nor shoes; and salute no man by the way.

And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house.

And if the Son of Peace be there, your peace shall rest upon it; if not, it shall turn to you again.

And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give; for the labourer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house.

And into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you:

And heal the sick that are therein, and say unto them, The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.

But into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you not, go your ways out into the streets of the same, and say,

Even the very dust of your city, which cleaveth on us, we do wipe off against you; notwithstanding be ye sure of this, that the kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.

And the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through Thy name.

Man once was content to dwell on the earth's surface, now he burrows down thousands of feet in search of fuel and the precious metals, and ascends into the clouds with his airships. Inventions have followed fast upon each other until one arm can do what a thousand arms could not have done a few centuries ago.

In Spite of All This

Cities have sprung up with their massive business buildings and majestic temples of worship. Libraries, schools, colleges and universities are scattered over our land. Riches are accumulated as never before, and learning among the masses surpasses the dreams of the ancients.

Mighty ships plow the ocean and enormous engines carry freight and passengers across the land; and people rush to and fro in horseless cars.

Distant regions are bound together by iron rails and widely scattered continents are united by rapid ships. The telephone has converted each nation into a whispering gallery. The telegraph system has eliminated space and the radio opens up possibilities that obscure the line between dreams and real life.

Tractors drag gang plows through the fields, complicated machines cut and bind the grain, steam threshers separate the wheat from the chaff and mighty mills turn out billions of bushels of flour and meal.

And yet the problem of existence is more serious than when the soil was tilled by oxen and men plowed with a crooked stick—more serious than when wheat was trampled out by horses and ground in mortars.

Penalties of Civilization

In proportion as people crowd together in cities they become estranged, crime increases and destitution spreads. Commercial rivalry becomes a cause of interna-

Capital and Labor more acute than it has ever been before.

To whom can the world turn except to the One whose yoke is easy and whose burden is light? His Gospel is for nations as well as for individuals—for the regeneration of society through the regeneration of individuals.

Surely the harvest is ripe, but how can laborers be secured? Missionaries are needed to carry the gospel into heathen lands and they are also needed at home to avert calamities that threaten, it is so be that "the wages of sin is death." How can society be saved from the punishments that are linked to transgressions? Only by those who believe in God.

Without a belief in God man cannot understand the world, and the Bible gives us our only conception of God and our only conception of Christ. Without a belief in God there can be no sense of responsibility, and without a sense of responsibility there is no foundation upon which to build society.

The Church's Task

The Church must lead in all moral reforms or forfeit its claims to confidence; and the Sunday school comes next to the Church in the influence which it exercises upon the thought of the religious world.

Education cannot be substituted for religion; the mind is but a machine and is fit only to serve the heart. The heart must occupy the throne and direct one's course.

"For out of it are the issues of life." The mind may wander—its thoughts are superficial—but a man "thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Mind worship is the basic sin of this generation. Science, one of the most honorable branches of learning when it deals with truth, at times descends from its high plane and indulges in guesses which, unsupported by facts, attack all that is sacred. The most destructive of these guesses is the one that links man in generations with the brute and deprives his sense of responsibility to God.

Reverent Worship Needed

The world needs reverent worship today more than it needs vain speculations and light literature. We not only need to double our church membership and multiply our Sunday school rolls, but we need even more to intensify our devotion and to apply to every phase of life the code of morals that Moses brought down from Sinai and that Christ enlarged in His Sermon on the Mount.

Christ taught that His followers should be the salt of the earth, but He warned against the uselessness of salt when it loses its savor. Every Christian should be a missionary, spreading the gospel of Christ by word and illustrating it by example. "Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only."

A heart can be changed in a moment and, therefore, a nation can be born in a day.

Weddings
ReceptionsBride-elect Feted
By Young Matron
At Gay Party

Miss Esther Betts, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Will A. Betts of this city, whose wedding to Lambert J. Baker is to be an event tomorrow afternoon, was the honoree at a small, informal party last evening at the home of Mr.
and Mrs. L. A. Dickey, 605 South
Birch street.

Miss Betts and Mrs. Dickey were school chums together in Long Beach, where the Rev. Mr. Betts was pastor of the First Methodist church.

The evening was spent mostly in talking over old times and renewing acquaintanceship. Miss Betts, who is a very talented musician, favored her friends with vocal and instrumental selections.

As the delightful evening came to a close, refreshments were served to the Rev. and Mrs. A.
Betts, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Miller,
Miss Claudia Miller and Mrs. L.
B. Percy of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dickey and Miss Esther
Betts, the bride-elect.

Miss Betts, a newcomer to Santa Ana, has been the recipient of many pleasant pre-nuptial courtesies since the announcement in August of her engagement to Mr.
Baker. In her former home at Long Beach and in Los Angeles she was honor guest at a series of delightful affairs following the betrothal and prior to her leaving Long Beach.

Her fiancé, Mr. Baker, is a Los Angeles resident and the young people will make their city their home. The wedding tomorrow at twilight, will mark the blossoming of a romance that budded in the classroom and campus life of University of Southern California.

Mrs. Dickey, last night's hostess, is herself, a bride of recent date,
and a newcomer to this city, where she is already forming her place among the young matrons.

W. C. T. U.

Combining forces for the afternoon, the four sections of the W. C. T. U. will meet in two divisions at the regular meeting to be held Tuesday, November 28 at 2:30 p. m. The two sections of the north side will be entertained at the home of Miss Juliette Smith, 122 East Eleventh street and will be led in devotionals by Mrs. Anna Scott. Mrs. John Clarkson will give a reading at this meeting.

The two sections of the south side will meet with Mrs. J. A. Kyle, 122 East Eleventh street, and will have Mrs. A. M. Leonard to lead in devotionals and Mrs. John Estes to give a reading.

The programs will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Anna Mitchell, local superintendent of the Southern California W. C. T. U. homes, and Mrs. D. P. Leonard, local superintendent of medical temperance. In accordance with their plans, each member is requested to bring a copy of her favorite recipe.

The occasion will also be recognized as an opportunity to bring fruit of all kinds, both canned and fresh; walnuts and towels for donation to the home for women and children.

Ebell Club

According to an announcement made today by Mrs. Alice H.
Hatch, recording secretary of Ebell club, all Ebell members who have not yet paid their yearly dues, are expected to be prepared to pay them Monday afternoon at the annual Founders' Day program at the Temple theater.

It was stated that those who fail to pay on that date will au-tomatically fall into the delinquent list, a situation to be avoided if possible, as it tends to increase both trouble and expense for the club.

Delphian Society

The Santa Ana Delphian Society met yesterday morning in the Parish hall at the Episcopal church. The president, Mrs. A.
J. Crookshank, gave an interesting report of the Delphian Assembly held on Thursday in Los Angeles.

Reports on various phases of Egyptian history, art, science, social and religious customs and a brief statement of the present political situation in Egypt were given by representatives of the different study groups. Those who reported yesterday were Mrs. Fitz Garden Grove, Mrs. Bowles,
Mrs. A. F. Hill, Mrs. Emily Hall,
and Mrs. T. E. Stephenson. Mrs.
T. B. Kelly reviewed briefly a book on Assyria and Babylonia, the countries next to be explored
by the Delphian study classes.

Miss Jennie Lasby gave a half hour lecture on the "Beginnings of Science."

The great permanent contribution of any nation to world history is through science," said Miss Lasby. "Science is seeing cause and effect—it is man's attempt, through analysis of cause and effect, to fit himself to his environment."

"The very earliest need of the human race along any line of thought that might be termed scientific must have been a comprehension of direction and there can be no sense of direction without something to guide it. Surveying is the earliest branch of science, as it was needed as soon as man began to own land."

"The first impulse toward this development came when some observing person discovered that in all the vast numbers of stars that sprinkled the skies, only one—the North star—was always in exactly the same place. The study of the stars is a very ancient study.

The Egyptians and Chaldeans made wonderful maps of the constellations, which were known and accurately charted over 6000 years ago.

"Thousands of years ago some one discovered the fact that the sun makes a complete circle of the sky—how he discovered it puzzled the scientists of today.
Thousands of years ago, man divided the sun's path into twelve regions, still known as the signs of the zodiac. These signs were all, with one exception, named after living animals known to the Chaldeans, the one exception being the balance, or scales, which was probably man's first invention."

"It is extremely interesting to know that the two constellations known as the Great Bear and the Little Bear have been so called by every known tribe and nation in the world except the American Pawnee Indians."

"The Chaldeans, in their star-study, grew to believe that the stars influenced human life and fate, and thus astrology came into being."

"The length of the year was observed by these ancient peoples, and the extra day every four years was, at least in Egypt, made a feast day, and not counted as belonging to either of the years it came between."

"Until the 16th century, Europeans believed the world to be flat. The ancient Egyptian recognized its spherical shape, and measured its with an error of but a few hundred miles."

"The ancients considered gold as the final element, and the al-chemists, fore-runners of the modern chemists, hid upon many important discoveries, in regard to metals by their attempts to turn other metals into gold."

"The science of chemistry had its beginning in ancient Egypt, and the word 'chemistry' which we use today comes from the fact that Egypt was then called Chem, and her attempts at chemical experiment known in other nations as 'the arts of Chem.'"

It is a source of much surprise to modern science that Egypt knew so much of medicine and antiseptics. Antiseptics came into use through the preparation of American Woman Artist Portrays Child Life

Of All Countries

An anticipated event of much interest is the exhibition of charcoal drawing and color sketches of child life by Anna Milo Upjohn which will be shown at the art studio of the junior high school, Monday and Tuesday afternoon and evening and Wednesday afternoon, November 27, 28 and 29.

The pictures have been secured through the Pacific division headquarters of the American Red Cross by Miss Hazel Bemus, chairman of the Junior Red Cross, and had their first showing at the Corcoran Art gallery in Washington, D. C., last spring. Since arriving on the western coast, the loan exhibit has been shown in Berkeley, Oakland and in the Los Angeles city library, as well as at three state fairs, that of California at Sacramento and of Arizona at Phoenix and Prescott.

Miss Upjohn, the artist, is a native of New Jersey and has attained an enviable place in the art world through her sympathetic interpretation of child life. She is a member of the National Association of Woman Painters and Sculptors and among her listed works are a number of panels in the Dutch style for the Vanderbilt hotel in New York city.

Her sketches of children so clearly reflected the great sympathy of the artist with her little subjects and her understanding of them, that she was commissioned in 1919 by the American Red Cross to visit those European countries where the Junior American Red Cross is at work, to draw types of children who are the beneficiaries of the loving, unselfish service of the children of America. The color sketches and drawings which constitute the Red Cross public exhibit are the result of that commission upon which Miss Upjohn is still engaged.

"UNDER OATH" AT TEMPLE MONDAY MATINEE

"Under Oath," announced as the attraction at the Temple theater, for the Monday matinee affords local motion picture devotees an opportunity to see in action a long list of prominent film stars.

Foremost of these stars is Elaine Hammerstein, famous the length and breadth of the star-spangled states for her brilliant work in films, past and present.

Playing with Miss Hammerstein are three leading men of great popularity. These three men, Mahlon Hamilton, Niles Welch and Wallace MacDonald, form a trio that would be hard to beat. Hamilton has long been known as one of the most gifted and likeable of all screen males. His work, always dignified and important, is in this instance a masterpiece of restraint and subtlety.

Niles Welch has made five or six photoplays opposite Miss Hammerstein and each one seems to be better than its immediate predecessor. In "Under Oath," Welch is ideally cast and will make many new friends. Wallace MacDonald, real-life husband of Doris May, has an important role in "Under Oath."

Directed by George Archainbaud, the gifted and artistic French director, "Under Oath" promises to be the most popular of all the Hammerstein releases.

"LORNA DOONE" SHOWS AT YOST TONIGHT, TOMORROW
Norris Johnson is a horse-woman of no mean ability but she did not discover it until called on to make a "Paul Revere" during the screening of "Lorna Doone," Maurice Tourneur's production, the feature attraction at the Yost theater tonight and tomorrow.

"I have ridden nice gentle 'gee-gees' in the parks for a morning center, always with a fear in my heart that I might take a notion to run with me, and I did not dream that the ride Tourneur had planned for 'Ruth' was to be any wild affair or I am afraid I should have 're-negged' in the beginning. However, when the scene got into my blood I forgot all about the horse and only felt that I had to arouse the countryside to a point of revolt against the Doones, and reach Lorna in time to save her from my own treachery."

"A FULL HOUSE" IS BREEZY FILM AT PRINCESS.
Breezy buoyant and filled with situations that provoke laughter,

"A Full House," says manager Walker of the Princess, is made to order for playgoers who like a comedy-drama with plenty of amusing incidents to make them forget the troubles of a strenuous business day. Bryant Washburn is the star while Lois Wilson is his leading woman. It is a Paramount picture of high calibre. The film shows tonight at the Princess.

HUGHES HAS GOOD VEHICLE IN PRINCESS FILM.

When Gareth Hughes, the Metro star, appears at the Princess theater tomorrow and Monday in "Don't Write Letters," his latest picture, he will be seen in a role which just suits his unusual and distinctive personality. The play gives him exceptional opportunity for the display of his unquestioned talents.

In "Don't Write Letters" Hughes appears as Bobby Jenks, who quits his job at the gents' socks counter when the war comes, and enlists. Because he is short in stature, when he arrives in France he is assigned the job of cook, with which he is greatly dissatisfied.

Bobby finds a letter in the army blouse that his sergeant tosses to him. The blouse is too large, and Bobby returns it, but he keeps the letter and the photograph which Anna May Jackson, a Brooklyn factory girl, has sent with it. Anna hopes that the blouse will keep her "big unknown hero" warm "in the trenches."

CHARLES RAY PICTURE ON WEST END SCREEN.

In the cast of "Smudge," Charles Ray's latest offering as a First National release, is Lloyd Bacon, so of Frank Bacon of "Lightnin'" fame.

Lloyd is the villain of the photoplay, and has some telling scenes with Charles Ray when they clash as opposition newspaper proprietors. He gives an excellent performance, and proves that he is the worthy son of a remarkable father.

Young Bacon has been in pictures for some time and has done work which stood out prominently. In fact, he is regarded as one of the best character actors and heavies in the business. Apart from his acting he has been guilty of writing several scenarios and is rapidly establishing a name for himself as author of the screen. In private life he is anything but a "heavy." He owns his home in Hollywood and spends all of his spare time with his family.

When Ray, on his recent visit East, stopped off in Chicago he called on Frank Bacon, who was playing in that city after a three year run of the comedy in New York. They discussed the actor's son, and the veteran of the screen predicted that his offspring would some day see his own name in electric lights.

"Smudge" is the feature this week at the West End theater, where it will begin a 4 day engagement tomorrow.

MOVIE VILLAIN TELLS THRILL OF SNAKE SCENES

Clarence Burton, who appears in support of Gloria Swanson in her new Paramount picture, "The Impossible Mrs. Bellow," which will be shown at the Temple theater all next week has had many thrilling experiences during his screen career. But there are two which stand out in his memory, and he tells of them as follows:

"I've been the 'villain' in some 287 photoplays, the fellow who always 'gets his' in the last reel. He was as tame as a cat, and, although the regular trainer was away, everything went off without a hitch.

ing elephants, tied to ant hills with thousands of the insects crawling over me and figured in many like stunts.

"Of them all, however, two stand out most vividly because they are concerned with snakes, which I dislike. In one of them I sat opposite another man while a rattlesnake came up through a hole in a card table. The stunt was that he was to 'pick the villain'—and we were to let him bite until he finally selected me! He picked me the first time—and I nearly died when those fangs went through my flesh, even though I knew his poison sacs had been removed.

"In the Coils of the Python," I had to get in the grasp of a 33 foot snake, weighing 360 pounds. He was as tame as a cat, and, although the regular trainer was away, everything went off without a hitch.

Stocks, Markets and Financial News

LARGEST WATER POWER DEVELOPMENT

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, scientific expert of the General Electric company, and one of the world's best known electric engineers, does not class as impossible of fulfillment during the next hundred years such radical ideas as the transmission of power by radio, and utilization of the sun's energy and of the atomic energy of radioactive substances, according to an interview with the electrical wizard appearing in the weekly letter of the Blyth, Witter and company news service.

"But first," says Dr. Steinmetz, "we must utilize our water power resources to a greater extent, and we will utilize them. Untold amounts of energy are going to waste in our streams, rivers and waterfalls. We must reduce this waste power and use all our hydro-electric endowment in order to save our diminishing supplies of fuel."

Holds Cost Justified
Dr. Steinmetz continually calls attention to the fact that if this power in American rivers which has hitherto gone to waste be utilized, the economic saving will far surpass the cost of installation of hydro-electric apparatus.

In New York state important projects are already under way, among the largest being a development on two of the Adirondack rivers, which, when completed, will furnish a large amount of electric energy for the industries of northern New York.

In the South, large undertakings along these lines are also in progress, while California's hydro-electric development, present and planned, is second only to that at Niagara Falls. The Louisville Gas & Electric company has received permission from the government to develop water power on the Ohio River. In Georgia developments on the order of those in California are planned.

Follows California's Example
The recently completed transmission system of the Georgia Railway & Power company is similar in method, though not in magnitude, to that of the Pacific Gas & Electric company, which obtains its water power in the mountains nearly two hundred miles north-east of San Francisco.

In predicting the tremendous improvement in the use of our power which the next century may see, Dr. Steinmetz says:

"Intimately joined with the sources of power, the effective use of these sources, and the different application of power to human needs, is the problem of distributing it."

A hundred years from now—yes, in a much shorter period than that—I can see the whole country using electric energy supplied to it by a network of inter-connected generating stations like a railroad system. The problem which we will solve will be one of the inter-linking isolated sources to one another so that the widest possible economical distribution may be obtained."

Professionals Force Down

Studebaker Stocks During Short Session

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Professional operators took advantage of the absence of many traders attending football games today to launch a severe attack on the industrial leaders during the two hour session of the New York stock exchange.

Studebaker, whose persistent steadiness during the recent selling movement had been one of the mainstays of the market, was singled out as the stock most likely to prove effective in unsettling the general list.

Concentrated pressure was applied to this issue with the result that it broke sharply to a new low on the reaction, carrying with it most of the speculative favorites like Baldwin, American Locomotive, Corn Products, American Can and Steel Common.

The market closed lower.

LEGION CLUB PLAYS AT HOME TOMORROW

Local Men Face El Modena; Irvine League Leaders Battle Newport

TOMORROW'S GAMES.

Irvine at Newport.
Van Dien-Youngs at El Toro.
El Modena at S. A. American Legion.

The baseball team of Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, will play its first game of the Orange County Harbor league season at home tomorrow afternoon.

Pitted against the undefeated El Modena club, now tied with Irvine for the league leadership, the local ex-service men will open their new grounds at the corner of West Fifth and Sullivan streets. The park is just west of the Pacific Electric car tracks.

The Legionnaires got off to a bad start in their opening tilt of the flag chase but came through last Sunday with a victory over the Tustin K. P. outfit. A win tomorrow will place the post close to the top of the league standings.

Either Jackie Cardall or Arch Snodgrass will leave for the locals. Manager "Jug" Walters announced today. Lee Brown will be behind the bat. Pete and Steve Duhart are both expected to be with the Legion men. Neal Raney, U. S. C. track and baseball star, will cover center field. Manager Walters has lined up other fast diamond men for the tussle which will begin at 2 o'clock.

The fast Irvine club, leading the other clubs in the loop with a string of three victories and no defeats, will tackle Charlie Way's Newport men at the beach grounds. Newport has not annexed a game yet but Way believes his cohorts will shake their jinx tomorrow and step out with a win over the league leaders. Edwards, the crack Irvine chucker, hasn't come close to losing a game yet. He has a bunch of heavy hitters behind him in the Mitchell brothers, Schultz and Arabel.

The Van Dien-Young company club of Santa Ana will face the El Toro outfit at El Toro. Both of these teams boast a list of game wreckers with the hickory. Their fray should be one of the best of the day.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—"Fight, Army fight." The resounding battle cry of the gray battalions from West Point, thundered through the streets here today as the army eleven prepared for its annual battle with the Navy.

"Fight like hell," the traditional appeal of the navy in a pinch, reverberated back from the blue clad regiments of Annapolis.

Fifty-five thousand football fans gathered here for the annual conflict between the cadets and the midshipmen, felt and knew that it was to be a tremendous fight.

In the camp of the army, the situation was looked upon as almost desperate. It has been a long time since 1916 and no army team has defeated the navy since 1915. Betting was 7 to 5 in favor of the Navy.

Hotels were crowded to the roof last night and the streets were jammed today by thousands of incoming fans and by sight-seeing natives who parked along the curbs of the main thoroughfares to see the cadets and the midshipmen march in from the early morning trains.

Practically all of the celebrities from Washington had gathered for places of importance at the "ringside."

President Harding was unable to attend. General Pershing came with Secretary Weeks and Secretary Denby.

ANOTHER TIGER WINS HONORS

Princeton, for the first time in 11 years, performed the glorious feat of defeating both Harvard and Yale. Here is shown a Tiger thrust at the Blue goal in last Saturday's game. Perfect interference by Princeton made this forward pass successful. Ken Smith, southpaw kicker, won the game with a drop from the 17-yard line.

POLY, FULLERTON ON EDGE FOR BIG FRAY

With the date for the big football fight between the Santa Ana and Fullerton high school teams but a few short days away, the rival coaches, Marvin ("Spud") Morrison and Stewart ("Shorty") Smith, today called a halt to hard pre-game workouts.

Both squads will take it easy from now on until the minute of suspense when the teams, primed for the fray, line up for the kickoff at Fullerton field Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Both eleven will be in good condition. That was the only word heard from the opposing camps today.

Santa Ana, using every man on the first string squad, played the Harvard Military academy here yesterday afternoon in a surprise game and won, 13 to 6. The team looked good in action. Poly's forward passes worked time after time, "Soapy" Coffman nailing them from all angles. He looms as the Santa Ana threat in this department of the game.

With one or two exceptions the starting lineup for the local aggregation seemed certain. Captain

Wilcox, in good condition again, will be at quarter. Jabs will play full. Le Bard seems sure to start at left half.

The right halfback job is a gamble. Either Bill Luck or Carl Black will open up. Both are good men, fast and shifty. Luck started against Huntington Beach and Black opened up against Harvard yesterday.

Gardner and Coffman will be at ends. Thoele will be at left tackle. Dungan and Townsend will be at the guards.

If Morrison starts Ed Linsenbard at center it will not surprise local fans if Rolland Stillens opens the game at right tackle. If Stillens plays at center, Jim Coulson will fill at tackle.

Arrones, Fullerton's star halfback and kicker who was out of the first battle between the rival schools, will be in the game Tuesday. Gregory will play quarter. Carpenter and Smith probably will take care of the other halfback berths although Lemke played the position against Orange last Wednesday.

ZUPPKE LEADS ALL RIVAL GRID CHIEFS

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 25.—Despite the fact that Illinois had a bad season in football in 1921, and is going none too well this year, no one is shouting for the removal of Coach Bob Zuppke.

Football reverses come to every coach. Zuppke is now having his share. Fortunately for the Illinois mentor he has a great record to fall back on. A good record is a great thing when a football coach needs a friend.

Despite the failures of the past two years, Zuppke still has the edge in points of games won and lost with every rival institution in the conference except Michigan.

When Yost's eleven defeated Illinois at Ann Arbor recently, it evened up the count, each having beaten the other twice since Zuppke took charge of Illinois.

Zuppke's record against Chicago is five won, three lost and one tied. Howard Jones, coach of Iowa, despite victories over Illinois last year and this, is still trailing Zuppke, 3 to 2.

The rivalry between Illinois and Ohio is famous. In the last decade each team has won three championships. Zuppke goes Wilce a little better, however, in having tied one. The record of Illinois against Wisconsin under Zuppke's regime is four won, three lost and one tied.

Even Rabid Stanford Fans Admit Chances for Red Victory Are Hopeless

By M. D. Tracy, United Press Staff Correspondent

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Nov. 25.—Football warriors of Stanford and California nervously awaited today the coming of the afternoon and the shrill of the referee's whistle which will send them into the crowning spectacle of the football season—the annual California-Stanford "big game."

High up in the Santa Cruz mountains the Stanford team slept last night while careful watchers guarded them like so many babes in a hospital nursery. In San Jose the California Bears made their den for the night, guarded just as carefully and sleeping just as sound.

But, while quiet reigned in the camps where the teams were quartered, the campus reverberated with the "rah, rah," of Stanford and the "sky wow" of California. San Francisco had felt the spirit. So had Berkeley and Oakland. A visitor from Mars could have guessed, were he anywhere in the bay district, that today was the day of the "big game."

Early this morning the Stanford camp began to be alive with students and alumni of both universities. Fraternity houses had their doors wide open, welcoming returning members among the alumni.

Campus Takes Color
The campus began to take on color almost with the coming of daylight—boys in rosters caps of red or of blue and gold; girls dressed in the brightest of sport

GOOD EYES AND KNOWLEDGE OF LAW PILOTS' NEED, VIEW

New Legislation Calling for Optical Tests Urged By Davis

CITES CRASH FIGURES

Voices Plea for Examination of Drivers as to Familiarity On Rules

Will motor vehicle legislation presented at the next session of the legislature require applicants for operators' licenses to take examinations as to their knowledge of law and operation as well as to their physical and mental fitness for the responsibilities accompanying a permit to drive a car or a truck?

Herbert O. Davis, secretary of the Orange County Automobile Trades association, propounded this question today.

Adoption of enforceable regulations to eliminate glare lights

Davis declared to be essential. Legislation preventing persons with defective eyesight from handling the wheels of automobiles was also desirable, he added.

The secretary said that both are evils that should not be tolerated.

Urges Rigid Tests
"In my opinion, no person should be permitted to drive a car who cannot pass successfully tests as to his knowledge of motor vehicle laws and as to the effectiveness of their eyesight," said Davis.

"Both are essential when a pinch comes in an impending collision. Traffic court officials tell us that in 50 per cent of accident cases the usual excuse is, 'I did not see it.' The remaining 50 per cent of accident cases are due to gross violations of traffic laws."

"A driver should have normal vision so that he may be able to distinguish objects at a distance and to judge distances on the road."

Color Vision Needed
"Perfect color vision is a vital necessity. A color-blind person is a dangerous driver. He is unable to distinguish red lights and danger signals along the highway. It recently has been called to my attention that a Berkeley resident 58 years old, was killed because he was color-blind. An examination a few weeks before he was killed

Mud Splash Guards
New 'Wrinkle' In Eastern Motordom

Here is mud splash guard, which motorists in the East are using to prevent cars from splashing pedestrians in rainy weather.

Are motorists considerate of pedestrians, particularly in the winter, when the streets are "sloppy"?

It may be said that some are, for in the East they are equipping the wheels of their cars with mud splash guards. The guard is so attached to the wheels that when a puddle of water is struck it prevents a splash. It is an improvement that will be greatly appreciated by pedestrians who are accustomed more or less to having frocks and suits splashed with mud by speeding automobiles.

NOLAN'S WIDOW WILL SEEK CONGRESS SEAT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Mrs. May Hunt Nolan, widow of the late Congressman John L. Nolan, will run for election to the seat in congress left vacant by her husband's death. It was stated on good authority here today.

Mrs. Nolan herself made no formal comment and probably will not for several days, her friends said.

Several labor leaders have promised her their support. Her husband had been considered labor's spokesman in congress.

We will receive walnuts for second pool until Tuesday noon, Nov. 28th.

FILM LECTURE $265 SLASH ON CADILLAC SCHEDULED

Operations at Big Plant To Be Shown Here; Cut-away Chassis Feature

How the Cadillac factory operates will be brought to residents of this city in motion pictures to be presented in the showroom of the Cadillac Garage company, Main and Second streets, next Friday and Saturday, Otto Haan, manager of the company, announced today.

A special cut-open chassis, direct from the Los Angeles automobile show, and a lecture on the mechanical construction of the Cadillac will be features of the entertainment.

The picture consists of five reels.

To Deliver Talks.
James E. Bayless will accompany the chassis and deliver talks on the mechanical construction during the afternoon and evening.

"This is the standard Cadillac eight chassis, with all the metal parts highly polished and nickel-plated, and cut away in such a manner that its operation may be easily studied," said Haan.

"Because it is possible to see the motor in actual operation and learn the simplicity of motor car operation, this is a mechanical exhibit that proves of immense interest, especially to women."

Shows Whole Factory.
"At the outset the film unfolds a panorama over factory roofs which cover more than forty-five acres of floor space—the home of the car and guild house of more than 7000 craftsmen."

"It then carries the spectator to the physical and chemical laboratories, and thence within the factory proper. It features single operations, showing how extreme accuracy can be combined with quantity."

"What has especially impressed spectators at preliminary showings has been the clearness with which delicate processes and exacting tests, necessary to production of a high-grade engine, can be vividly depicted by the all-revealing device of the 'close-up.'"

New Cut Makes Reductions In Past Eleven Months Total $1050

Announcement by Otto Haan, manager of the Cadillac Garage company here, that the Cadillac Motor company had advised him of a price slash of $265 on touring cars, was the sensation on automobile row today. The new price is effective December 1.

The reduction represents a price decline of $1050 in the past eleven months. According to Haan, the slash came out of a clear sky, for no one was anticipating such a step. He pointed out that the production of the factory is being absorbed and that lowering of prices was not necessary to stimulate sales.

The new prices are based on an increased production program for 1923, said Haan. "Type 61 proved so popular during this year that the factory was forced repeatedly to revise its production schedules to meet the demand."

"Increased production and many economies in manufacturing has made possible the cut just announced. More Cadillacs have been sold this year than in the best previous record year."

FLAW IN ZONE ORDINANCE IS DISCLOSED

The zoning ordinance passed by the city council Monday evening prohibits the erection of residences in District No. 2, the business district, Robert Mize, secretary of the Orange County Title company disclosed today.

Mize made the discovery in studying the document to inform himself on its provisions. Mize, who passes on papers prepared by the title company, said that in deeds and other papers pertaining to city property it will be incumbent upon title companies to inform purchasers of conditions obtaining on property within the various districts formed under the ordinance.

Informing Authorities.
Mize has called attention of the authorities to the fact that residence improvements are prohibited in District No. 2 under the ordinance as adopted.

Section four provides, it was pointed out, that "no building, structure or improvement shall be erected, constructed or established in said District No. 2 which is designed, arranged or intended to be occupied or used for any purposes other than a store or shop for the conduct of a wholesale or retail business (lines of business enumerated) and other similar enterprises or institutions, or for any purpose permitted by this ordinance in District No. 4."

No. 4 Residence Area
District No. 4 is the residential district. The phraseology clearly prohibits dwellings in the business district. The boundary lines of District No. 2 include considerable territory that is now residence property.

Mayor John G. Mitchell stated that the council had no intention of halting residence construction in the district and that the error probably would be corrected at once by an amendment to the zoning ordinance. He pointed out that if anyone desired to build a dwelling in the district he should have the privilege of doing so, for he would take such steps with full knowledge that in time he may have to surrender his residence location to business development.

SULTAN'S 300 WIVES WOULD FOLLOW HIM

(By United News)
LONDON, Nov. 25.—British officers are plainly perplexed over the disposition of Mohammed's 300 wives, who wailed and gnashed their teeth when the sultan stole out of the back door of his ramshackle palace in Constantinople and fled to Malta on a British ship.

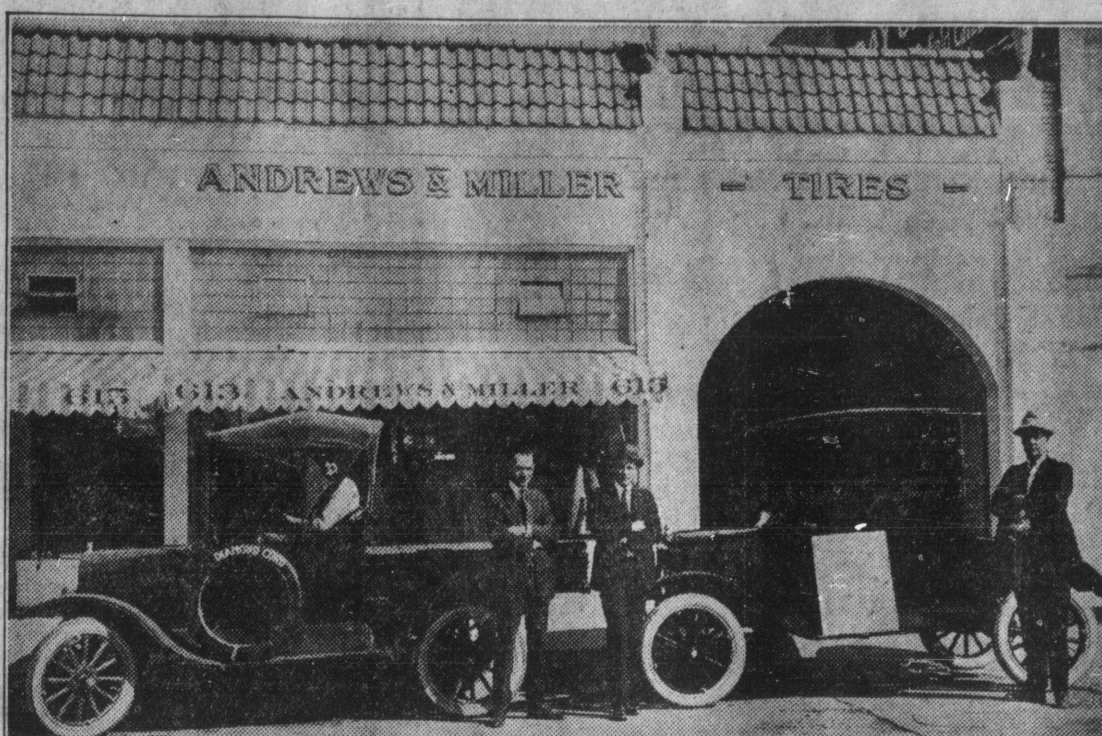

The harem of the former caliph is now under guard of the Turkish nationalists, whose desire to try the sultan for treason caused him to flee.

Mohammed VI, it was pointed out, will undoubtedly want all his wives, the youngest of whom is 22, when he settles down in exile. The British, since the sultan is their guest, naturally feel as though it is up to them to see that the harem is forwarded.

The harem does not become the property of Abdul Medjid, who was installed in Constantinople as Mohammed's successor. Each caliph has the right to choose his own wives.

Abdul, when he was inaugurated, stated that in spite of the difficult times, he still maintained faith in Allah.

DIAMOND TIRE DISTRIBUTORS IN COUNTY BUY FORDS FOR SERVICE

Accepting the slogan of the Ford Motor company, "Ford is the Cheapest Transportation in the World," as a literal fact, Andrews and Miller, county distributors for the Diamond tires, have added a Ford coupe to their motor equipment. The purchase of this car followed almost immediately the buying of a Ford delivery car for their service. The two Fords are shown here, standing in front of the new building, 615 West Fourth street, into which the firm recently moved its business. In the picture, from left to right, are J. C. Courtney (seated in delivery car), foreman of the vulcanizing department; Thomas Miller and Herbert Anderson, composing the firm, and C. C. Tash, sales manager for Knox and Stout, Ford agents.

MAYOR AND 10 OTHERS SOLD REOS HERE

Declarations by J. W. Tubbs, sales manager for Dale and Company, Reo and Packard distributors, that in the lines of automobile sales business with his firm is good, was supported with the names of eleven persons to whom Reos have been delivered in the past week. The firm also made delivery of five-passenger Packard to Dr. Harry Stryker, of this city.

Tubbs particularly was congratulating himself on "picking" Mayor John G. Mitchell as a Reo driver. The chief executive of the city is now driving a classy Reo sedan. Other deliveries were as follows:

Santa Ana—Herbert Miller, Dr. J. C. Murfin, couples; J. F. Talbott, sedan; C. H. Lurkin, Paul Steele, Norman Lutz, F. H. Finney, phaetons. Orange—K. Klauer, sedan, and F. H. Klauer, phaeton. Huntington Beach—D. O. Stewart, coupe.

Recent sales of speed-wagons are as follows: Simon Fluor, Edmunds Fruit Exchange, J. W. Hamlin, Santa Ana; Louis Robinson, Trabuco; S. Kato, Kosako and Nishi, and J. W. Gupitli, Garden Grove.

U. S. BUSINESS HEALTHY, SAY DODGE HEADS

"Healthy from the feet up," is the way F. J. Haynes, president of Dodge Brothers, describes the country's business condition, after a six weeks' "listening tour" on the west coast. He was accompanied by John A. Nichols Jr., general sales manager of Dodge Brothers.

According to O. A. Haley, county distributor for Dodge Brothers' cars, Haynes and Nichols visited virtually every important city in the Northwest and along the Pacific coast from Vancouver to Los Angeles.

"We just listened," said Haynes. "We heard what our dealers thought, we heard what their bankers had to say and we got first-hand opinions from merchants of all sizes and descriptions. And the sum total of the whole series of observations and opinions is this: 'Recovery from the feverish overexertion of war time is virtually complete. The new cycle of prosperity has begun. But it is not the prosperity of boom times. It is the sound, healthy sort of prosperity which develops with steady firmness. Bankers and merchants everywhere regard it as a substantial, permanent improvement. They are content to see a gradual development because they have only recently witnessed a tragic example of the other kind of development—the kind that accumulates so much momentum that the brakes of good business judgment are useless in an emergency.'"

PLAN TO SHORTEN ROAD TO PASADENA FROM LONG BEACH

The project for a new boulevard to shorten the route from Long Beach to Pasadena and incidentally to provide a new arterial road between Los Angeles and Long Beach, came a step nearer accomplishment when it received favorable consideration at the meeting of the Fourth District Chamber of Commerce at Redondo.

A tentative route has been agreed to, leading north from Atlantic avenue and crossing the flood control channel at the Artesia avenue bridge. The project would mean new construction from Wardlow road to the Tweedy-Abbott road.

It would go through the Maywood-Bell district over Gibson avenue, would cross Telegraph road at Bandini crossing of the Santa Fe and get through the Coyote hills over an unnamed pass about a mile east of Pasadena avenue, which parallels the cemetery on the Los Angeles east city limits.

Various ways of financing the new boulevard have been proposed, one plan being a combination of assessment and bond issue, equally divided.

The matter of financing the project was placed in the hands of the Community Planning conference.

PAIGE EASILY MAKE S 'PUMP HOUSE' HILL

Pulling up the 30 to 35 per cent grade of what is known as the Pump house hill back of the ranch house on the George Marcy place in the Red Hill district is the only "outdoor sport," in which Bruce Hays, of the firm of Edgar and Hays, Oakland, and Paige distributors here, has been indulging in the past few days.

He is performing with a striped 6-66 Paige, a regular stock car with the exception that the gear ratio has been changed from 4.54 to 1 to 5 to 1.

Hays made the drive over the hill Thursday, Friday and today in demonstrating the power of the Paige.

The hill is recognized as one of the severe auto testing points in the county and Hays declares that he drives the Paige up the grade with perfect ease with the speedometer registered not more than fifteen miles an hour.

WARNS PUBLIC OF POISONOUS LIQUOR

GRAFTON, W. Va., Nov. 25.—The seizure of several zinc moonshine stills in Taylor county has prompted Charles R. Lilly, magistrate and former Federal prohibition field officer for West Virginia, to issue a warning against moonshine liquor that is peddled about in this section. "A drink of liquor from one of these mountain stills," he said, "would kill the strongest man in the country." Less than one per cent of drinkable liquor is being sold in the county, he declared. Analysis of liquor recently confiscated showed that "rough on rats," shaving concoctions and lye were mixed in it.

DRIVE AGAINST GLARE LIGHTS TO CONTINUE WITH VIGOR IN COUNTY

17 Complaints Are Issued Against Drivers With Faulty Equipment

TO MAKE ROADS SAFE

District Attorney Determined Intensively to Prosecute Campaign

Pointing out that there will be no let-up in the campaign being conducted by Orange county motorcycle officers against glaring headlights and declaring that fifteen complaints have been issued here since the officers began their drive last Saturday night, District Attorney Alex P. Nelson indicated today that the motorcycle squad will make another "round-up" tonight.

"There will be no cessation of the activities of the motorcycle officers," said Nelson, "and we will make every reasonable effort to see that this menace is eliminated on Orange county highways."

Ample Warning Given
"Ample warning has been given and there is no logical reason why motorists should not co-operate with us in this movement. It means the safety of all concerned. Testing stations, established in the county, will gladly assist motorists in the adjustment of their headlights. Those holding certificates issued by the accredited testing stations will be assured of protection, even though the officers find that their lights are out of adjustment."

To Make Roads Safe
Possession of the certificates will at least show a willingness on the part of the motorists to make the highways safer at night. The district attorney said motorcycle officers had been instructed to keep a close watch on all cars with brilliant lights and stop every driver believed to be violating the headlight regulations.

PROGRESSIVES BALK OVER NOMINATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—President Harding's appointment of Pierce Butler, St. Paul lawyer, to the United States supreme court, is unacceptable to some progressive senators.

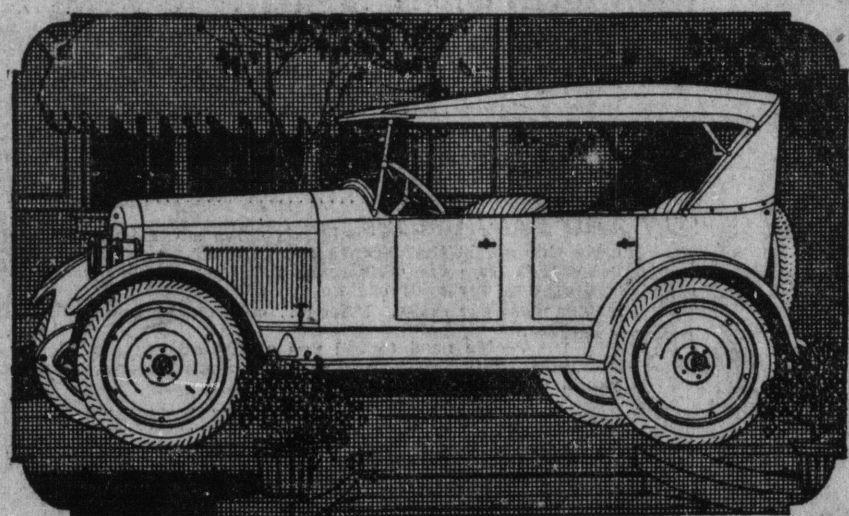

Whether these senators will actively oppose Butler's confirmation depends somewhat on what they learn in inquiries begun today concerning Butler's qualifications for the post and his "slant" on economic and other public questions.

Butler's appointment will be subjected to closer scrutiny than the nomination of some better known men, because those senators who are friendly to organized labor have been pledged to withhold their approval from any appointments to the court that appeared likely to make it more conservative or in any degree less friendly to labor.

An Added Touch of Distinction

The Jewett Special—Horsepower—$1295 Delivered

The Jewett Special was designed and built for that considerable body of motorists who particularly enjoy a touch of distinction to the car they drive. Their preference is for a suggestion of smartness in finish and appointments and the extras in equipment that set their car apart from the rank and file.

The Jewett Special is remarkably successful in meeting this particular need. The nickel radiator, the beautiful moleskin gray finish on the body and hood, the disc wheels with demountable rims and outside valve stem and the Spanish hand-crushed leather upholstery create exactly the impression this discriminating clientele desires.

And, of course, the performing powers and enduring qualities are assured, for the Special is built on the staunch and sturdy standard Jewett chassis and is powered with the Paige built 50-horsepower, six cylinder motor. Examine and ride in this car. You will then be convinced that for a combination of beauty, comfort and performance the Jewett Special offers a rare opportunity at $1095, f. o. b. factory, only $100 more than the standard job. $1295 delivered here,

TONIGHT WILL BOOST SHOW

With the high school band, the Elks' funny brigade, a number of funny clowns and a boy of pretty girls in line, the Elks' parade at 7 o'clock tonight promises to be a big feature stunt in last year publicity for the presentation here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of "Ten Thousand Dollars," the Elks' annual Christmas entertainment.

C. J. McNaughtan, director of the show, announced that the cast will meet at the Yost theater at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for a dress rehearsal. The manager says that he never has directed a production that gives promises of greater success than the one scheduled for the three evenings of next week.

W. W. Wasser, secretary of Santa Ana Lodge No. 794, stated that he desired to correct the impression that all the seats have been reserved. He says there has been a good advance sale, but that many seats are available for each of the evenings. He anticipates, however, that all tickets will be sold before the opening of the show Monday evening. He is basing the opinion on the big successes of past productions by the lodge.

McNaughtan pointed out that more than sixty persons are in the show and that it has everything to make it the equal of a modern road show. Gorgeous costumes, beautiful settings, an augmented orchestra, clever comedies, pretty girls, a harmony male chorus, talented soloists, graceful dancers, and the very latest song hits are features that will keep the audience on its toes, according to McNaughtan.

The director stated that because of the length of the program, the play will begin promptly at 8:15 p. m. He gives assurance that the long delay in starting, usual with local productions, will not be countenanced in the production of "Ten Thousand Dollars."

GOOD EYES AND KNOWLEDGE IS

revealed that he was color-blind as to red, orange and yellow. He was warned that he should not drive a machine. He did not heed. He described as "crazy" the man who advised him against his driving a car. A few weeks later he was killed in turning a corner on a country road. A barn stood on the corner and he crashed into it. Investigations by the coroner disclosed that fields around the barn were green. The barn was painted red. The man did not see the structure simply because of his defective color vision.

Light Sense Urgent

"It must be apparent to everyone that good light sense is necessary for driving at night. A driver should have the proper faculty of recognizing various degrees of luminosity of lights and should have an appreciation of colors under a low intensity of light. He should be able to judge distances correctly when he is driving in crowded traffic."

"A driver will watch the road directly ahead of him, trusting to his indirect vision to warn him of danger from a side approach. If a driver has not direct field of perception for red, imagine what may happen if a red car should approach him from the side. If a collision was avoided it would be due entirely to clear vision and on the part of the driver of the red car."

"In time of danger, perception is the big thing, for rapid reaction must follow his visual impressions."

"Familiarity with traffic laws always is effective in preventing accidents, for when two drivers get into a pinch, if both are actuated in their movements by knowledge of their rights, they are far more apt to work out of the situation without damage than they would be if they were ignorant of the regulations."

JURY VERDICT BLOW TO PEEDE DEFENSE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Last hope of Mrs. Louise L. Peete for a new trial for the murder of Charles Jacob Denton, wealthy mining man, was dissipated here yesterday when a jury decided that Denton's body had been properly identified.

The jury ordered the London Employers' Liability Insurance company to pay the Denton estate $17,100, the face value of his policy, plus interest.

The insurance company claimed that the body had never been identified and a favorable verdict would have been made the basis of a plea for a new trial by Mrs. Peete's counsel.

She is now serving a life sentence in San Quentin penitentiary.

CHILDREN TO LEARN
SOCIAL POISE VALUE
IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

Etiquette and decorum in the curricula of the county schools are the latest innovations in the realm of education to be proposed by Miss Ida Collins, county superintendent.

Whether even the stern dictum of manners can curb the instincts of youth, particularly of the small boy at the party in anguish for a third piece of pie or cake, is a subject concerning which even the educators refuse to commit themselves.

Fact that educational programs are guided by the fact that man is a gregarious animal, will furnish the key to the new program in social education.

This program will be included among the regular school work in all county schools. Miss Collins believes it equally necessary in both city and rural schools. "Manners and morals," said Miss Collins, "are as important a part of life as scholastic studies. They help one up or keep him down. Hence, in all the county schools we are imparting what information we can gradually to give all classes of children a chance to learn the rudiments of correct behavior when in public. This, in the past, has been a constant source of embarrassment to otherwise well-disciplined youngsters."

Reading, writing, arithmetic are to be the least of the studies of the future embryonic social lights under instruction now. Perfect poise will be added to their accomplishments, and the sang froid of the socially elite will show in their every movement—after six months of the concentrated lessons in etiquette.

No text books are to be used, however. The teachers are at work now. The schools where lunches are served and where cafeterias are available for the children are used as the most favorable places for such development.

MEAT BARON DENIES RUMORS OF MERGER

(United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson and company, who is traveling in the south, today authorized his Washington offices to deny reports that his company was contemplating a merger with another packing concern.

Reports to this effect were received recently by government officials.

Wilson telegraphed to the following statement to his office:

"There are no negotiations with Armour and company or any other packer that contemplate the merger of Wilson and company with Armour or any other packer or the sale of Wilson and company to Armour, or any other packer."

CHAPLIN AND NEGRI
MUM ON BETROTHAL

(United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Gossip has Charlie Chaplin engaged again—this time to Pola Negri, the fascinating Polish picture star.

Chaplin will not deny it, and Miss Negri will not discuss it. And gossip, which seems to have forgotten about Peggy Joyce, Claire Windsor, Mae Collins and whatever name, has no more proof than ever.

"I won't say yes, and I can't say no—think of the position that would place her in," was Chaplin's remark on the rumor.

Miss Negri will not see interviewers, and that's all there is about it, except.

Chaplin has been very attentive since the arrival of the charming foreign screen celebrity. Their meeting was anything but the casual greeting of strangers, and the report has gone about that Chaplin's trip abroad brought him a very pleasant acquaintance. And Chaplin has been Miss Negri's escort at all of the social functions in the film colony since her arrival.

That much is enough for gossip.

NASH ROADSTER IS BEING TURNED OUT

Following closely its announcement of a new sport model, Nash Motors is now in production on a roadster of new and improved type, according to W. C. May, of the May Motor company, Nash agent.

"The body, toned in rich maroon, is swung low to the road, the wheels being finished in bright vermilion," says May. "The top is semi silk mohair while the upholstery and interior trimmings are all dark grey Spanish leather."

"The new Nash type ventilator graces the cowl just forward of the one-piece windshield, the posts of which are nickel-plated. There also is a nickel-plated radiator shell. The new roadster includes such other refinements as a new steering mechanism, oil lamp equipment and new hush headlamps, equipped with an exclusive Nash device that permits light adjustment to any angle quickly."

"Across the front of the chassis side-numbers is a heavy bar that anchors the frame solidly against 'weaving' or road strain."

"The new Nash roadster will make a particular appeal to those who require a car of this type for business or pleasure and whose preference lies with one that is powerful yet handsome in appearance."

CLAIM AUTO'S WIDE SWATH BRINGS CRASH

W. R. McKeeth cut a wide swath on West Third street this morning, according to reports made at police headquarters by two other persons.

According to A. B. Chandler and C. H. Patterson, McKeeth was driving east at a high rate of speed when he collided with a truck owned by the Southern Counties Gas company, spilling a quantity of plumber's supplies.

Bouncing off this machine, McKeeth's car is said to have hit first Chandler's machine, bending a fender, and then to have veered into Patterson's car.

MUIR SCHOOL NOT TO OPEN MONDAY

"The John Muir school will not be open for attendance next Monday," F. L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, said today. There will be only three days of school next week, therefore the board considers it well to keep the school closed until after the holiday.

The board has been inspecting the heating apparatus recently installed at the school, but has expressed no opinion as to the system's suitability.

SCOUTMASTERS TRAIN AT OUTING IN PARK

Dignified business men were depicting themselves in an undignified manner at Orange county park this afternoon. The occasion was the scoutmasters' training day of the Orange county council Boy Scouts of America. Between fifty and sixty scoutmasters, adult leaders, and council members were in attendance. Outdoor games were played, campfires were built in preparation for the evening meal, and sections were taking courses in nature study and map drawing. Among the leaders of the activities were Roland E. Dye, scout executive, Dr. Roy S. Horton, in charge of map drawing, and Robert Northcross, supervising the nature studies.

DE MOLAY TO DISCUSS JOINING ASSOCIATION

Members of the recently instituted Order of De Molay here, were today anticipating an interesting session to be held at the Masonic temple tonight when the matter of affiliation with a Southern California body will be discussed.

In the summer the chapters of the northern part of the state formed an association with great success, each chapter appointing a representative to form a grand chapter. The plan is now being presented to the orders in the southern section of the state, to promote friendly and athletic relations between chapters which are near each other.

The matter will be presented to the local order tonight by W. V. Whitson, chapter advisor.

ELOPING BEAUTY TO SWEETHEART SOUGHT

Romance will receive a knockout blow if police come across Josephine Hogue, 16 and pretty, and David Lawrence, 17.

According to information given to authorities by Mrs. C. T. Wells, Fallbrook, the girl and boy decided to elope in the latter's gray roadster. The girl was described as weighing 110 pounds, being 5 feet 6 inches tall, and "very pretty." They were believed to be headed toward Santa Ana.

THIRD BASE IS ONLY TIGER JOB IN DOUBT

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 25.—Ty Cobb says there is only one debatable position on his ball club for next year, third base. Bobby Jones and Fred Haney will fight it out for that position. If Jones is able to keep physically fit, he will have the call. A bad stomach raised havoc with his game last year.

Haney, whether he wins the third base berth or not, is certain to be retained. He is a valuable man to have around for utility purposes. He can play any position in the infield and in a pinch do a pretty fair job in the outfield.

Blue will be at first, Pratt at second and Rigney at short. In the outfield will be Cobb, Heilmann and Veach. Bassler, Woodall and Manion will look after the catching.

The pitching of course is a question. Cobb expects great things from "Rip" Collins, secured from Boston. Pillette should have another good season and Johnson should arrive with a bang in 1923. The rest of the staff is a bit uncertain.

CHICAGO MAYOR AROUSES IRE OF SHRINERS

(United Press Leased Wire) CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Mayor William Hale Thompson, attempting to defend his administration of the affairs of Chicago before 4,000 fellow Shriners last night, was "boomed" and hooted until forced to stop his speech. In an address following a ceremonial, illustrious Potentate Will H. Wade charged the Thompson administration with taking an unfair attitude toward Masonic organizations in connection with lotteries conducted at bazaars. He cited instances and showed photographs of sale of lottery numbers and operations of paddle wheels at bazaars conducted by other organizations while he told of refusal of the administration to allow the use of similar means of raising funds at Masonic affairs.

Meeting in Uproar. "If there is any gambling in the city of Chicago before God I know nothing of it," he shouted. A din of catcalls and a roar of hooting came from the hall and the mayor was forced to leave the stage.

William H. Westby, a Thompson political leader, then urged the Shriners to hear the mayor. There was a roar of denial, but the mayor, showing some evidences of discomfort again came on the stage. He told of his loyalty to the organization and said the potentate had been misinformed. The uproar burst again and the mayor, after waiting a few moments, took his seat.

Ready to Prove Charge. Wade then told the audience that what he had said was the truth and he stood ready to prove it. The cheering and applause of approval lasted for ten minutes. The uproar was deafening. To end it, Wade finally called the drill team to the stage to distract the attention of the crowd from the incident.

Mayor Thompson remained in the Temple for the remainder of the evening.

States Sign River Development Pact

(United Press Leased Wire) SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 25.—The Colorado river treaty, the first document of its kind, was in existence today, agreed to by representatives of seven southwestern states and of the federal government. The pact was signed here last night following a three weeks conference between members of the Colorado river commission and provides for the distribution, for irrigation and water development projects, of the waters of the river between the seven interested states.

The essential articles of the pact are one, three, four and eight. Article two comprises the definition of the terms used in the compact, describing the division of the Colorado river drainage into the upper and lower basin, limiting the entire contract to United States territory and making the division point at Lee's Ferry.

Will Determine Flow. Article five relates to setting up a committee of state and national water officials for the collection of information and measurement of the flow of the river.

Article six provides the machinery by which future controversies are to be settled through the appointment of commissioners whose actions shall be subject to the approval of the legislatures of the various states. Article seven provides that nothing in the compact shall effect the obligations of the United States to the Indians.

Article nine provides that nothing in the compact shall limit legal proceedings to enforce it. Article ten provides for its termination by unanimous consent.

Article eleven provides for the method of confirmation by congress and the legislatures of the interested states.

The complete text of articles three, four and eight are as follows:

Article 3 (a)—there is hereby apportioned from the Colorado river system in perpetuity in the upper basin and the lower basin respectively, the exclusive beneficial consumptive use of 7,500,000 acre feet of water per annum which shall include all water necessary for the supply of any rights which may now exist.

(b) In addition to the apportionment in paragraph "A" the lower basin is hereby given the right to increase its beneficial consumptive use of such waters by 1,000,000 acre feet per annum.

(c) If, as a matter of international comity, the United States of America shall hereafter recognize in the United States of Mexico any right to the use of any of the waters of the Colorado river system, such waters shall be supplied first from the waters which are surplus over and above from the aggregate of the quantities specified in paragraph "A" and "B" and if such surplus shall prove insufficient for this purpose then the burden of such deficiency shall be equally borne by the upper basin and the lower basin and whenever necessary the states of the upper division shall deliver at Lee's Ferry water to supply one-half of the deficiency so recognized in addition to that provided in paragraph "D."

Protects Lower States. (d) The states of the upper division will not cause the flow of the river at Lee's Ferry to be depleted below an aggregate of 75,000,000 acre feet for any period of ten consecutive years, reckoned in continuing paragraphs, beginning with the first day of October next, succeeding the ratification of this compact.

(e) The states of the upper division shall not withhold water and the states of the lower division shall not require the delivery of water which cannot reasonably be applied to domestic and agricultural uses.

(f) Further equitable apportionment of the beneficial uses of the waters of the Colorado river system unapportioned by paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) may be made in the manner provided in paragraph (g) at any time after October 1, 1933, if and when either basin shall have reached its total beneficial consumptive use as set out in paragraphs (a) and (b).

Provides For Increase. (g) In the event of a desire for a further apportionment as provided in paragraph "f" any two signatory states, acting through their governors, may give joint notice of such desire to the governors of the other signatory states and to the president of the United States of America and it shall be the duty of the governors of the signatory states and the president of the United States of America forthwith to appoint representatives whose duty it shall be to divide and apportion equitably between the upper basin and the lower basin the beneficial use of the unapportioned water of the Colorado river system as mentioned in paragraph "f", subject to the legislative ratification of the signatory states and congress.

Article 4 (a) Inasmuch as the Colorado river has ceased to be navigable for commerce and the reservation of its waters for navigation would seriously limit the development of the basin, the use of its waters for navigation shall be subservient to the uses of such waters for domestic, agricultural and power purposes. If the congress shall not insist to this paragraph, the other provisions of this compact shall nevertheless remain binding.

For Power Development. (b) Subject to the provisions of this compact, waters of the Colorado river system may be impounded and used for generation of electrical power, but such impounding and use shall be subservient to the use and consumption of such waters for agricultural and domestic purposes and shall not interfere with or prevent use for such dominate purposes.

(c) The provisions of this article shall not apply to or interfere with the regulation and control by any state within its boundaries the appropriation, use and distribution of water.

Article 8. The present perfected rights to the beneficial use of waters of the Colorado river system are unimpaired by this compact. Whenever storage capacity of 5,000,000 acre feet shall have been provided on the main Colorado river within or for the benefit of the lower basin, then claims of such rights, if any, by appropriators or users of water in the upper basin shall attach to and be satisfied from water that may be stored not in conflict with article 3.

All other rights to beneficial use of waters of the Colorado river system shall be satisfied solely from the water apportioned to that basin in which they are situated.

62 MILLION IS SAVED YEARLY BY FORD CUT

The price slash of $50 a car made recently by the Ford Motor company does not amount to much to the individual but the aggregate of the saving to persons of the United States who buy the production of a year is $62,500,000, Charles C. Tash, sales manager for Knox and Stout, Ford dealers here, declared today.

This is what the cuts amount to in cold cash when spread over a production of 1,250,000 cars, Tash said.

Prices of today represent a drop of 45 per cent in two years on touring cars and 38 per cent on sedans," said Tash. "The Ford is now the lowest priced of all forms of gasoline propelled vehicles."

Indicating that car arrivals for the past few weeks have been fairly good, Tash reported the following deliveries since November:

CLASSES FOR TRUCK MEN HELD SUCCESS

The three-night law instruction course for truck drivers which is being conducted at the Anaheim union high school under the direction of the Orange County Highway Transportation association will close with a double session tonight, M. C. Fiscus, of Brea, secretary, announced today. The instructor is John T. Houser, stato counsel.

Fiscus declared that from every point of view the school was proving highly successful. The association was planning to continue its campaign of education by arranging for additional classes to be held in each locality in the county, where drivers and operators of all classes of motor vehicles may enroll, he said.

The enrollment has increased to more than 150 students for the present school and includes on the roster, in addition to employees and members of the association, drivers from virtually every industry in Orange county that makes use of the truck in business, as well as traffic officers and auto drivers," said Fiscus.

"The first session tonight will open at 6 o'clock to enable those who have attended an earlier session eligible for the examination to secure a diploma. The closing session is to open at 7 o'clock. Following the last lecture an examination on twenty questions dealing with the more vital phases of the law governing the use of motor vehicles will be held.

"At the close of the examination all will drive to the Elks club for lunch and will be addressed by A. P. Nelson, district attorney.

"Frank Stewart, of Brea, was elected class president and R. V. Tanner, of Fullerton, class secretary at the session last night.

"Anyone interested is invited to be present tonight. No charge is being made for the school."

The business men's Sunday school class of the Spurgeon Memorial M. E. church, corner of Church street and Broadway, extend a cordial invitation to all men who are not members of some other Sunday school class in this city to join with them in their study of the next Sunday's lesson. Assembly at 9:30 a. m. in the auditorium of the church. Class meets at 10 a. m. up stairs on the west side of the building. E. C. Martin, leader.

Nervous and Dizzy, Everything Seemed to Worry Me. How I Got Well

Larwill, Indiana.—"My back was so bad I could not do my washing. I was always tired out and had no ambition, was nervous and dizzy and everything seemed to worry me and I had awful pains in my right side. I felt badly about four years and could not do my work as it should have been done. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised so much and it did so many people good that I began to take it myself. I am feeling fine now and every one tells me they never saw me looking so well. I live on a farm, do all my work, and have three little girls to take care of. I am recommending this medicine to my friends and know it will help them if they use it like I do."—Mrs. HERBERT LONG, R. 3, Box 7, Larwill, Indiana.

Many women keep about their work when it is a great effort. They are always tired out and have no ambition. When you are in this condition give it prompt attention. Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

EL MODENA

EL MODENA, Nov. 25.—This is society week for El Modena and there is something scheduled for every day in the week and several evenings, beginning with Monday. Mrs. Cammery reached another milestone and the Ladies' Bazaar class of which Mrs. Cammery is a member, learned of the event. Armed with flowers, fancy work and good will, a number of classmates and neighbors met at the Haynes home on South Park street, for a pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Cammery was duly surprised. She was invited to spend the afternoon with her daughter, and the afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation, one lady giving a report of a missionary meeting she had attended. The missionary was from the darkest districts of India. The ladies hearing of some destitute families planned to be ready to make some comforts at the next business meeting of the class. All went home feeling it was one of the pleasantest afternoons of the season.

Mrs. Florence Smiley entertained one afternoon this week members of the O. U. H. S. graduating class of 1911 and some other high school friends. The old girls had a splendid afternoon. Those present were Mrs. Josie Bolton, Mrs. Owen Smith and three young sons, Mrs. Crockett Riley, Mrs. George Beares and small son, Mrs. Anita Dahl and baby, Orna Travis of Long Beach, Mrs. Peterkin and the hostess, Mrs. Smiley and small son and daughter. They were proceeding home when their car stopped, out of gas, so laden with numerous bundles they proceeded in the dark to traverse the remainder of the way home.

Wednesday afternoon the W. F. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. Fredenbloom on North Alameda street. The subject was India. India was on trial with court and witnesses and Mrs. Cutler was prosecuting attorney. After her instructions to the jury, Miss Dye gave a solo. The missionary committee who served the banquet to the farm bureau reported between $34 and $35 for the missionary treasury. Mrs. Fredenbloom served cocoa and water.

Thursday afternoon the yearly meetings conference will be held at which the reports will be given by those from the yearly meeting who attended the five year meeting held at Richmond, Indiana. Reports of other lines of work of which Whittier college will be one important feature will also be given. Many visitors are expected. The conference will continue Thursday afternoon and evening and all day Friday. All are welcome.

PLAYS OF S. A. F. F. K.

TO BE STAGED HERE

That Santa Ana writers, ambitious to write and produce, "The Great American Play" would be given the opportunity of having their efforts presented and judged in the near future if plans now under consideration by committee chairman of the Santa Ana Community Players' association are carried into effect, was the statement made today by leading members of the organization.

The plays will be presented by Community players with fellow members as audience and critics, it was stated. For some time plans have been evolving to develop the social side of the organization by having monthly meetings which members only would be eligible to attend. These were all to be presented tonight at a meeting of committee chairman to be held at the home of Fred Rafferty, 117 East Tenth street. While plays and their performance will be of keen interest, they will not be allowed to dominate the meetings, but will alternate with various original entertainments.

The art studio of junior high school has been offered as a meeting place for the more ordinary gatherings, while the plays will no doubt be presented at the Temple theater. At present, members of the organization are rehearsing two skits, one written by Stanley Reed and the other by Joseph Jackson of the high school faculty.

POULTRY YARDS HUM AS 2500 FOWLS GO ON A WILD DEBAUCH

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Hilarity in a poultry yard, where 2500 fowls were said to be drunk, resulted in the arrest of O. S. Steglatt of Cudahy, a suburb, on charges of violation of the Volstead act.

Neighbors sent calls to the police that "something awful" was "going on" in Steglatt's poultry yard. They responded and, they said, saw 2500 geese fighting, 2000 ducks dashing madly over the surface of a small pond and 2000 chickens either lying on their backs, skimming with outstretched wings about the yard, or siding with the geese in their battles.

The officers found the fowls all drunk and stated they found evidence they had been partaking of some mash. They confiscated three stills, 100 gallons of liquor and several barrels of mash. Steglatt was put in the county jail.

TALBERT NEWS

TALBERT, Nov. 25.—The raising of the Talbert bridge is progressing quite rapidly; a one hundred and fifty foot span which is one half the length of the bridge having been put on its new foundation Thursday.

A four foot raise is being made but as the bridge is of wooden construction the work is quite simple compared with that necessary for the Talbert bridge the raising of which has just been completed by the same contractor, Mr. Leadbetter of Los Angeles.

Several weeks will be required in which to complete the entire work as the construction of the approaches etc. will have to be done after the completion of the main part.

One week only was required for the raising of the first half of the structure.

TALBERT PERSONALS

TALBERT, Nov. 25.—Mrs. John Shutt has returned from Boise where she has been caring for her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Draper, who has been ill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pettitt of Whittier were Thursday guests at the Sam Talbert home and upon their return were accompanied by her mother, Mrs. M. L. Thurman who will remain for a few days' visit.

A regular moving "bee" occurred at Talbert this week when four families were "on the wing."

Three of the families were locals who simply changed residences, the fourth being a returning former resident. The Virgil Presson family made the first move in this checker board play, going in to one of Joe Parson's houses from Sam Talbert's. This occurred Tuesday and on Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Tiler moved into the former Preston house.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. De Polster and son, Laurence Doyle, Mr. De Polster's sons and family who are recent arrivals here from Texas, went into the Tiler house, which, being much larger than their former house was much better adapted to their use.

The De Polster house on Friday was taken by Mr. and Mrs. Greenbrey Presson, who returned from Orange where they have spent the past several months since leaving Talbert.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gardner enjoyed the day Sunday as guests of former Iowa friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Mitt of Huntington Beach.

S. E. Talbert finished the work of levelling and graveling yards for the Ward Lumber company at Huntington Beach, Thursday, and moved his men men to the Holly Oil company's land where construction is going on.

Work of embalming the dead has been completed and the first funerals were held today.

HAPPY WORKERS HOLD DOLLAR DAY MEETING

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 25.—The Happy Workers held their annual dollar day meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the R. E. Larier home. After the devotional services by Rev. W. T. Wardle, and a few items of business had been discussed, those present took part by contributing a dollar to the basket on the table and telling how it was earned. Quite a variety of employments earned the dollar given. These included sewing, making butter, darning socks, picking berries, raising chickens, catching a rat, saving a dollar, many old ways except stealing. Dainty refreshments of brick ice cream and cake were served.

About forty-five were present, including ten children. Thirty-three dollars were received with more coming in from absent members.

GARDEN GROVE GIVES CASH PRIZE FOR BEST PUBLICITY SLOGAN

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 25.—At the noonday luncheon of the Lion's club Wednesday it was decided to hold a banquet at the Garden Grove hotel Wednesday evening, December 6, at which the high school football team will be guests of honor. The local 130 pounders played the last game of the season here Thursday. This team has made a splendid record the past season and has come out victorious in many of the snappy gridiron contests.

A committee composed of A. D. Hoenshel and W. B. Merchant was appointed to arrange a suitable program for the occasion.

The secretary was authorized to offer a $500 cash prize to the school pupil handing in the best slogan for Garden Grove, which slogan will be universally adopted for publicity purposes.

B. N. Larsen and H. A. Lake were appointed to arrange next week's program.

LAST OF TOMATOES BEING HARVESTED

TALBERT, Nov. 25.—he picking of what will probably be the last tomatoes from the fields on the Robert Wardlow ranch which were planted for the Haven Seed company, was under way Thursday with a crew of forty or fifty pickers busily engaged.

The frostings of the tomatoes does not injure the seed it is said, so the entire crop can be used.

MANY JEWELLED BAGS TEMPT PARIS CROOKS

PARIS.—The latest handbags being carried by ultra fashionable women in French society are well worth the attention given them by the skilled purse snatcher.

One seen at the Casino at Deauville recently was made of fine platinum chain work crossed by parallel rows of diamonds, the frames being heavily set with large diamonds.

Platinum or gold frames, with large emeralds or rubies for clasps, are common, and all have costly fittings monogrammed in jewels. One model seen was of black moiré silk with wide platinum frame incrustured with brilliants, a very large pearl forming the clasp.

THE LAUGHTER OF ALLAH

Begin Here Today

M. JONQUELLE, greatest of French detectives, tells this story of a strange and famous Englishman and tells it without giving the man's name. But the conqueror of the Sudan who later met his death so tragically in the North Sea, was known to all.

It was the love story of the man who lived and died in mystery. The great man was riding through Cairo, his thoughts on native troubles in Khartum. Suddenly he noticed a white woman, accompanied by the resident doctor and her maid, enter a hotel.

He learned she was once a great beauty in the United States who had been unhappily married. She looked exhausted and in her face one read the tragedy of failure.

Go On With the Story

CHAPTER II

Meanwhile, the doctor after a word of direction, left the woman at the second floor, and she entered her apartment with the maid. She took off her hat, went over to the window and sat down. She leaned on her elbow, looking out, her face in her hands, her heavy hair falling over her thin blue-veined fingers.

The maid came with excited remonstrance. Madame must go at once to bed. The doctor had ordered it. Madame was taking a chance with her life. Her lungs would congest. She would die immediately. In spite of the dry atmosphere, there was a certain dampness from the Nile at evening.

But the woman gave no attention. She sat quite motionless, looking down at the man on the gray Arab, at the edge of the Place Esbekiya. She could see only the white helmet, the firm shoulders, the nervous horse, and the sun in the street beneath it.

She could not see the man's face, but she knew the features of it.

For some days he had been a distinguished figure in the city. Under the visor of the helmet she could reconstruct the face, with those dominating eyes of sword-blade, and the features that in repose seemed modeled over iron.

And there arose in her an appalling sense of loss—a ghastly sense of having been trapped and cheated. Here was the destiny for which she was born into the world, and she had been turned another way into the pit. Ah, God! If she had only had this bronze wall behind her, how far and how wonderfully she would have gone!

Meanwhile the riot of sound and color poured along the Street Kamel Pasha, drifted across the Place Esbekiya, and entered the Rue Muski on the way to the Tombs of the Caliphs. Now and then, one, exhausted, dropped out of the mad current and fell to the street, swathed in this burruse like a corpse.

The whole square of the Place Esbekiya was sown with these motionless figures.

Suddenly, far off in the border of the garden of the Esbekiya a gaunt figure arose from among the ghastly groups, as in a garden of the dead—creature in a faded, matted hair and naked under his burruse. He extended his arm, and his voice drifted with the vague wind northward as from a remote distance; a voice carried on the wave crest of innumerable sounds; a long, wailing, desert cry, weird, eerie, the words slurred over and blurred.

"O Sirdar! I will give it to you. . . . I will give it to you. And you may it crudely your soul!"

The voice trailed off in a thin, indistinguishable whine, and the emaciated creature sank down under his burruse.

Like the man looked up and about him like one who hears a whispering in the sky. Then he turned his horse and rode on slowly in the wake of the procession. He followed it east into the Rue Muski.

The horse picked its way along, careful to avoid the exhausted madmen who lay everywhere. The rider gave the horse no attention. He rode with the reins slack in his fingers.

As the Rue Muski entered the Neuve, the horse, to avoid a camel, stepped on the caftan of an exhausted dervish, lying in a heap like a dead man. The hoof barely touched the garment, but the dervish creature beneath it suddenly rolled over and buried his teeth in the horse's leg above the fetlock. It was the quick, savage lunge of a infuriated dog. The horse bolted, and to keep him from going headlong into the crowd, the rider turned him into a side street.

But he could not master the maddened horse. The beast was wild; the iron bit clamped into its jaws as cemented into a stone. As though infected by a virus, the horse was now as crazed as the drug-drunkened dervish. Nevertheless, the horse did not get away.

He fought down the narrow street and out through the native quarter of the city, but the rider controlled him and, but for an accident, would have got him in hand. A water-skin had broken in the street, and when the plunging horse struck the wet earth he fell.

The thing all happened in a flash, and the man was thrown out of the saddle. As he arose a native servant, in livery, handed him his helmet which had rolled into a neighboring doorway. A motor-car had stopped and a woman was out in the street beside him.

"Oh," she cried, "are you hurt?" The voice had that soft liquid tones of some southern country. He was not in the least hurt.

and he hastened to say it.

The car was new and smart—the sort of wonderful thing one sees at eleven in the Rue de la Paix. The woman was extremely young, a mere girl, he thought, for the lines of her slim figure were not yet rounded out.

It was amazingly good in a suit of white Chinese silk heavy as duck and cut, in a half sporting style, with a plaited collar, belt and patch pockets, by a first-class London tailor.

The girl was blushing slightly. Her eyes, colored like the velvet hull of an Italian chestnut, were wide under long lashes curling up.

"It was a nasty cropper," he said. "The horse went down like a shot. Fortunately the helmet got the blow."

And he pressed out the pieces of broken work.

"I thought you were killed," she said. Then she turned to ward the car. "Let me take you up."

He could not very well refuse and he got in. Besides, his horse was nowhere to be seen, and his ruined helmet would make him conspicuous in the street.

It was precisely sunset and from a thousand minarets the muezzin was calling out. The whole city was flaming pink, as though covered with the wings of innumerable flamingoes. The horse had fallen as it entered a great square before a mosque.

When they were seated they fell immediately into a pleasant talk. The charming thing about the girl was her perfect freedom. There was not a pretense in her. She gave a boundless confidence.

She was wholly absorbed in the thing she talked about.

The north pole never can be reached by flying due north according to the compass needle. The needle points toward the magnetic pole, which is many miles from the geographical pole. STAY WITH THE RED CROSS

Next week a house to house canvass of Santa Ana for membership in the Red Cross is to be conducted. When that is said, the situation is laid before us, for we all know what the Red Cross is. We need no campaign of education. The two words, "Red Cross," tell the whole story.

We do desire to urge, however, that Santa Ana continue its support of this great institution. During the World War, no community could have been more thoroughly united in its support of the Red Cross than was Santa Ana. There never came a call that was not answered. Every quota, whether for clothing to go overseas, for sweaters for soldiers, for jellies, for surgical dressings, for hospital garments or for money, was met more than 100 per cent.

We came to a high appreciation of the work of this organization. That appreciation has not been dimmed. The Red Cross, since the war, has played its part in disasters of various kinds. We call to mind that in the great Pueblo disaster, the entire relief work was headed by the Red Cross. Just recently, its long arm of charity and comfort was extended to the earthquake victims of Chile.

The Red Cross has always pursued its appointed tasks with diligence and sympathy. Its mission is to go about doing good.

QUESTION OF NUMBERS

In an interview with F. L. Andrews, secretary of the Board of Education, published Thursday of this week, the situation that Santa Ana faces was made plain. The whole question, so far as the proposal for more bonds for school purposes is concerned, hinges upon enrollment. It is not to be expected that a city in which the number of its school children in all its schools increases at the rate of 900 a year can do anything else than keep on building new schoolhouses. We must expect to keep on making provision for an increasing enrollment. It will take at least two new grammar schools a year, or their equivalent in housing capacity, to keep up with the increases now being made in the lower grades.

It is a mere matter of numbers. Anyone can figure it out. The maximum enrollment for a classroom should be thirty-five. A schoolhouse with a kindergarten and six grades would care for 245 pupils. If the schools are full, and 245 new pupils move into Santa Ana, where are they to be put?

CLUBS AND GANGS AND BOYS

A welfare worker especially interested in the young told an audience recently that the gang spirit is the worst menace in America today, and that the problem of the American community is to substitute the club spirit for it.

Every community has the problem to some extent—its group of young toughs who need to feel that their city needs them. The difficult thing is to get hold of these rougher boys and bring them into the clubs and social organizations where the natural acumen and love of activity can be directed properly. This point was brought out time and again by Probation Officer R. R. Miller while campaigning for a Y. M. C. A. for Santa Ana.

Club work should not stop short of these lads or bar them out deliberately, while providing countless interests for the boy already supplied with sound home and social influences. Club work, in fact, should be designed to reach the boys who need it most.

EARTHQUAKES AND MANQUAKES

There must have been a tremendous earthquake in the South Pacific, from the evidence still coming in from Chile. It battered a thousand miles of coast with mountainous waves, smashing shipping and docks and low-lying towns, in addition to the destruction wrought by the earth movements themselves. There were at least 1,500 people killed and the property damage will run into tens of millions of dollars.

And when all's said and done, the loss in human life and property together will be far less than the damage from any one of dozens of battles fought in the recent war.

Nature in its worst moods is destructive enough, but man himself is incomparably more destructive. Man is a worse enemy to man than fire, flood, storm or earthquake. Only one thing is more deadly to the human race than its own violence. That is the invisible and unconquered army of disease germs.

JUDGE COX AND JAILS

These days Justice of the Peace J. B. Cox of Santa Ana could send a man to jail for ten days for speeding, and there would be not over half a dozen lines about it unless the person jailed was a man of prominence.

When Cox began sending 'em to jail, speeder jailing was good for big type, and Judge Cox became famous. There were any number of newspapers that scored the Santa Ana justice roundly. Automobile drivers far and near sneered. An automobile club advised its members to avoid Santa Ana—it did so on the belief that speeders who went before Cox in Santa Ana were arrested for speeding in Santa Ana when as a matter of fact they were all arrested for speeding in Orange County outside of Santa Ana. Justice Cox even had a red-hot controversy through the newspapers with a Long Beach justice of the peace who thought it was up to him to point out to Cox the error of Cox's ways.

But things have changed. To be sure, a great number of people, a majority, knew all along that Cox was right. But many there who roared him. Now great numbers of those who sneered have come to the conclusion that the Santa Ana justice had the right idea, and had it first.

All over the country speeders are being jailed. Los Angeles is having an epidemic of jailing speeders. It is to be hoped that all the guilty ones who are arrested are given like treatment. One of the hardest things that enforcement of motor laws in Los Angeles has had to deal with has been the fact that those with a pull too often were not made to pay.

And then we witness the Michigan justice who is offering something different as a cure for speed bugs.

Not content with imposing fines and jail sentences on speeders, after the court session he personally conducts the offenders through the hospitals where traffic accident cases are being treated.

The speeders see little children crippled for life, old people who have been turned from feebleness to helplessness, and the mainstays of families become dependents, every one because some driver, perhaps one of the inspecting party, was heedless. Almost without exception the offenders end their journey in tears of shame and sorrow. Indifference and defiance vanish as they realize the sort of havoc their kind of selfishness creates. Like Thomas, having seen the wounds, they believe.

Such a lesson lasts. "Men are only boys grown tall." Adults are just like children. It is seldom enough simply to forbid, or to administer abstract punishment. The false ideal must be replaced with a true one before lasting reform is accomplished.

So we take our hats off to Justice Cox. Here and there are justices who are trying to outdo him. Whether it is the example set by Cox, or, as is most likely, the ever-increasing number of accidents that have caused the mind of justice to seek jailing instead of fining as a means of preventing death and maiming, the fact remains that the belief that Justice Cox has been right all along is approaching 100 per cent.

The Newberry Resignation

Riverside Enterprise

Public opinion has driven United States Senator Newberry from the senate. He has resigned his high office because of the bitterness with which the people of his state and the whole country have attacked the method by which his election was secured. The supreme court and the senate have vindicated him from the standpoint of the legality of his election. The publicity that has been given to the immense sums expended in his behalf for election, however, has ruined his usefulness as a member of the highest lawmaking body in the land. It resulted in the defeat of his colleague from Michigan and, it is claimed, defeated some others. It all goes to show that no man in public life can fly in the face of popular opinion and prejudice, even though he may be entirely within the law and misjudged.

It is certain that there have been many men elected to the United States senate who expended many times as much money as Senator Newberry or his backers. It happened that his election was the particular one that was thrown into the limelight at the psychological moment. It immediately became a campaign issue and Newberry hadn't any show to evade it or make an adequate defense. It had to be admitted that immense sums of money were expended in the election and whether some of the expenditures were legal or not, people do not like the impression that the story of election by such means gives.

Very few of the people who discuss the Newberry matter know anything about the merits of the case. They express themselves against the senator, when in reality their opposition is to the system allowing large sums of money to be used in any election to "swing" it away from the candidate who would otherwise be the popular choice is abhorrent to all Americans.

In this instance, Newberry seems to be the goat, in a bad predicament.

Gambling Must Not Return

Sacramento Bee

At the recent election, voters of Montana approved a law to permit the introduction of the pari-mutuel system of betting on horse races held in connection with state and county fairs.

Efforts have been made in other states to pass similar measures, and here in California it has been also suggested.

This pari-mutuel system is nothing more nor less than a sugar-coated and disguised effort to evade the righteous indignation aroused by racetrack gambling by making it appear not to be such.

It is a snare and a delusion, for the pari-mutuel system consists of betting, some winning and others losing, upon the outcome of horse-racing, with pure unadulterated chance as the arbiter.

The only difference between it and the "book-making" system which caused so much misery and degradation in California, is that the odds are automatically determined through a rather elaborate system dependent upon the gross amount placed by the various betters upon the respective horses entered.

The essence of gambling, winning money as the result of chance, is still there.

And that should be sufficient to keep it out of California.

The memory of the present generation is not so short but that there does not come vividly to mind the suicides, the embezzlements, the heart-aches and the miseries that Tanforan and Emeryville bred.

The old files of any newspaper will show bank clerks blowing out their brains to end the disgrace of embezzled funds, lost at the tracks; young men sent to prison for their defalcations "to play the ponies"; of endless disgrace in many forms.

Imperial Counties Dairies

Imperial Valley Press

Imperial county is unquestionably becoming alert to the command, "Go forward." Fertilization and selection in the dairy business are being given more attention than ever before. In fact the first organized attention even undertaken. The production of feed in quantity and the utilization of economic animals are the fundamentals of success in the dairy business. More thought to these two factors and to the other one that dairying is and must always remain our solid anchor to windward, and another annual report will not show us fifth in line, but going forward to the top, and, in process of years at the top.

When Sunday Comes

Hanging By a Thread

Statistical Curiosity

Stockton Record

Detroit High school teachers are up in arms. Principals are submitting questionnaires asking them to explain how they spend their non-working hours. Many of the teachers have refused to fill out the blanks. Among the questions which have excited the ire and resistance of teachers are:

How many minutes did you spend on Saturday and Sunday last:

- In physical recreation?
- In social recreation?
- In unprescribed professional study?
- In purely cultural activities?
- In religious and charitable activities?
- In civic activities?
- In purely personal activities other than those listed?

Perhaps there is not so much to excite wrath as appears on the surface. The report is to be sent to Ann Arbor, which is most likely indulging in the modern mania for collecting statistical data. If the questions were between principals and teachers or even between teachers and school authorities as a personal matter one could join the instructors in saying how teachers spend their time away from school is strictly their own business, as long as they lead moral lives. There is no more reason why a teacher should be quizzed on the points named than any other employee in any other profession. Even a soldier in wartime need not explain what he does with his leave and a soldier under arms comes nearer being a slave than any other man in the world.

A short time ago there was a great roar in many quarters because Harvard university has asked a list of questions of students, one of which seemed aimed at a particular race or religion. Probably purely statistical curiosity, too. It is a good thing to keep cool until all the facts are known, but that is not the way we do in the United States, not even with the memory of the start the war gave officialdom in the matter of asking personal questions.

TREES

They shall look down upon this beauty still,
When I have passed beyond the sight of grass,
For trees grow old with wonder of a hill,
And aged for the look of ships that pass.
They still remember many a heated moon,
And twilights white with birches and high stars,
And robins by a lane and a new moon,
Flooding its light upon a lugger's spars.
If they could tell what they have seen and heard
Of windy June, if they could ease their minds,
What whispered music would go drifting by,
What sobbing from their throats, what hush of winds,
How still they stand under this sunlit sky,
So held by beauty they can speak no word!

The City Manager Plan

Stockton Record

Last evening at the high school where I reside. This is due largely to the fact that we were fortunate in securing the services of a high class and competent manager, Charles E. Hewes. Should a municipality find, after a thorough trial, that the proper selection had not been made, another manager could be chosen who would more fully meet the requirements.

No large business concern could succeed without a competent manager. What is true of a corporation is just as true of a municipality. Divided responsibility is fatal. What is everybody's business is nobody's.

I feel confident that a large majority of the citizens of Alameda are very well satisfied with the workings of the new municipal charter under the city manager plan.

In this connection it might be well to explain that Mr. Hewes, the first city manager of Alameda, made such a signal success that he was subsequently called to Long Beach at a much higher salary.

In the Southern California city he is duplicating the success that he attained in Alameda, notwithstanding attempts to discredit his work. They emanate from a few disgruntled ones who have had their private corns stepped on or their political ambitions interfered with by the advent of the new system. Major Hickok succeeded Mr. Hewes as city manager of Alameda.

They steamed it in a vapor of a thousand-odd degrees; They froze it in a freezer that was cold as Banished Hope And washed it in permanganate with carbulated soap.

After It's Over
By Berton Braley

After it's over
When they pull the curtains down
And the lights are dim,
I hope there's some one there to say
"I liked to fish with him."

I don't want any mourning then,
I hope no friends will wait,
But I do hope that I'll be missed
On some woody trail.

I do hope that when at last
My poor lips are dumb
Some bunch trekking north again
Will wish that I could come.

And maybe when I'm long asleep Underneath the trees
Word of it at length will reach Far-away Bateese.

And he'll pause beside the fire
As his thoughts run back—
"He was a good man," I hope he'll say,
"With a heavy pack."

When they gather round me,
Speaking hushed and low,
"I camped with him"—will someone say?

"Gladly, long ago."
